Emphasis On Guerrilla Warfare

Little Increase Seen In Military Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his shakeup of U.S. defense policy, President Kennedy probably will avoid large military manpower increases but emphasized new weapons and especially the means to wage guerrilla warfare.

The review of armed forces makeup, weapons and doctrine still is under way in the White House, but present indications are that the total manpower increase to be recommended to Congress by the President will be under 100,000 men, perhaps considerably under. Kennedy's decisions are due in about 10 days.

More dramatic than expansion of the Army and Marine Corps, authorities said this weekend, will be the President's stress on the hit-and-run kind of combat which has become increasingly charateristic of the struggle with communism in countries on the borders of the Chinese-Soviet bloc.

The United States has been concerned with what the Army calls "special warfare" for several years but Kennedy, officials said, intends to give it an entirely new importance, making it the equivalent of a third arm of grand strategy.

One of Kennedy's acts after becoming president Jan. 20 was to order an increase of 500 in the force of 2,000 men who have been trained at Ft. Bragg, N. C., as specialists in guerrilla warfare.

Kennedy's plans, it was said, call for sending graduates of the Ft. Bragg training program into all of the Army's regular divisions. The purpose will be to spread the philosophy and techniques of hit-and-run combat throughout the Army.

The kind of fighting involved is ilustrated by the conflicts between Western - supported and Communist-backed forces in Laos and in the Congo.

Officials said that as massive nuclear forces confirm the Soviet-United States stalemate, the importance of small conflicts may be expected to increase.

The United States has military aid programs in 45 countries and several high officials predict privately that probably more than half those countries would never be involved in anything except what some authorities call "sub-limited warfare."

Kennedy told a news conference last Wednesday that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had recommended, following Defense Department reviews, a buildup of conventional military strength. The President indicated he would make his decision around mid-March.

2 Die In Wreck East Of Jefferson City

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Two persons were killed and a third was injured severely in a four-car smash-up on U. S. 50 about 10 miles east of Jefferson City Saturday night. All three were from Jefferson City.

Killed were James Otis McQuarry, 45, and his passenger, Finneta Deiro.

Carl Wolfe Sr. was injured.

The Highway Patrol said the McQuarry and Wolfe cars met head-on.

The patrol said it hadn't determined how the other two cars were involved. They were driven by Margaret Ann Temmen, 26, Westphalia, Mo., and Patrick Finn Mathes, 21, Jefferson City.

Germany Revalues The Mark

Financial Circles Cheered; Worries For Businessmen

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany Saturday raised the foreign exchange value of the mark, an action that brought cheer to financial circles abroad and worries for businessmen at home. It is expected to ease pressur on the dollar.

Acting on a circular from the Economics Ministry, bankers boosted the mark by about 5 per cent in all foreign exchange deals.

It was the first official change in the value of the German mark since Sept. 19, 1949, when the Western occupation powers pegged it at 23.8 U. S. cents. It is now is officially worth 25 cents. In actual trading, banks paid 3.93 marks to the dollar, which put the mark's value at about 25½ cents.

The revaluation meant little to the German consumer but was of major importance to businessmen and bankers. It meant German firms selling goods abroad would have to charge 5 per cent more for their products or lower their prices in terms of marks.

This would either give an advantage to German's foreign competitors or squeeze company profits. Neither effect pleased industrial leaders, who were reported in emergency meetings throughout the country.

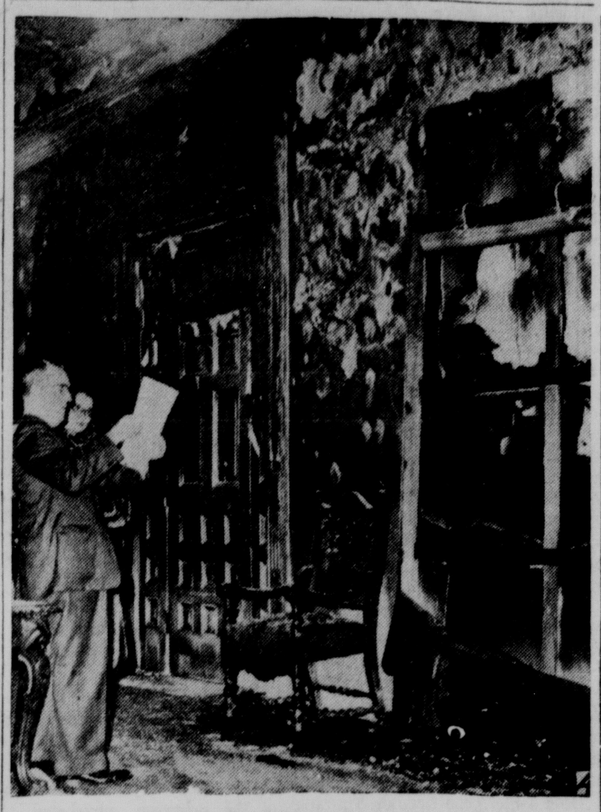

The revalution was expected to ease pressure on the dollar and curb the flow of foreign currency into Germany, a trend that had international banking circles worried.

For four years or more there have been rumors of revaluation of the mark but German banks and government officials had consistently denied any such plans. German industrialists stoutly opposed revaluation, preferring to retain the trade advantage the old mark value gave them.

There were reports that American circles had recommended revaluation to cut down the flow of dollars into Germany. Germany's magnetism for the dollar had become an embarrassment to both countries.

Stock markets and other major exchanges were closed when the new rate went into effect. By this timing, the government avoided panic action and gave traders the weekend to adjust to the new values.

Open War Flares Between Congolese And UN Forces

Reinforcements Sent In After Saeborne Operation

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Open war flared up in the Congo Saturday with Congolese forces launching a seaborne operation and fighting bitter street battles and mortar duels with U.N. soldiers.

Planeloads of U.N. reinforcements flew into the Congo's narrow Atlantic seaboard after Congolese swarmed ashore from boats to capture the little port of Banana from its U.N. garrison.

U. N. Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjild was immediately informed and he promptly cabled orders that the situation be restored—by negotiation, or force if necessary.

Sixty miles up the Congo River U.N. Sudanese troops battled grimly against Congolese units in the streets of the country's key supply port of Matadi.

For hours rifle, machine gun and mortar fire hammered through the hillside town. The United Nations reported the Canadian station now has apparently been knocked out of action and all contact with the U.N. garrison has been lost. At least two Sudanese have been wounded, one of them seriously.

After a brief truce arranged by the local U.N. commander, firing broke out again.

Should the United Nations be forced out of Matadi the entire operation in the Congo would be threatened. For it is at Matadi that nearly all of the country's desperately needed food, medical and gasoline supplies are landed.

Anticipating U. N. attempts to boost the strength of Matadi's garrison, the Congolese closed the river ferry connecting the town with its airport.

The fighting is a result of Congolese suspicions that the U.N. force is preparing to disarm the national army. It seems to have broken out spontaneously on the initiative if relatively low-level officers on the spot. Army commanders in Leopoldville are joining the United Nations in trying to arrange truces.

Col. Albert Keimbe, Congolese chief of staff, flew to the trouble area west of the capital early Saturday.

Fighting broke out in Matadi when Congolese opened up at close range on a villa being used by Canadian signalmen as a U.N. communications center. Sudanese troops replied with mortars from their camp nearby.

Within minutes the battle spread to other parts of the town, according to U.N. reports. At one point the local U. N. commander ventured into the street to arrange a cease-fire. But it lasted onlf briefly.

In Leopoldville, Rajeshwar Dayal, head of the U.N. Congo operation, and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko also conferred

Over 1,000 Scots Rally Against Base

An Outburst Of Anti-US Feeling Mars Demonstration

HOLY LOCH, Scotland (AP) — More than 1,000 Scots staged a waterside rally against the U. S. Polaris base on Holy Loch Saturday in an orderly demonstration marred by an outburst of anti-American feeling.

With banners waving and bagpipes wailing, the procession wound along the road from Dunoon and halted on the shore near the anchorage of the submarine tender Proteus.

Sailors on weekend leave from the Proteus were hailed cheerily by the straggling marchers, some of whom carried posters saying: "Americans—we like you, but not Polaris."

The sentiment was not shared, however, by one rowdy party of demonstrators who surrounded six Proteus crewmen on Dunoon Pier and forced them to retreat into an office.

The sailors were waiting to board a ferry heading across the River Clyde when a steamship packed with demonstrators came in. Scores of shouting men advanced on the Americans yelling, "Yanks go home." The crewmen, who are under Navy orders to steer clear of political arguments about their mission, retreated into the pier office but slipped out a back door to board the ferry soon afterward. None of them was handled or threatened physically.

By that time the crowd had dispersed, after an appeal by the Rev. Kenyon Wright, a Scottish Methodist clergyman, who was one of the organizers of the rally.

The march to Holy Loch otherwise passed without trouble. It was the first major demonstration against the Proteus, parent ship for America's Polaris submarine fleet.

About 40 policemen were on hand to keep the marchers in line as they ambled along the 3½-mile shore road to the skirl of pipes and the twang of guitars.

A hundred yards in front marched a pro-Polaris group saying, "We need Polaris. Welcome Yanks."

Most of the speakers urged the audience to show no hostility to the Americans as individuals.

"But let our American friends realize one thing," Hughes declared. "We don't want that monstrosity out there in the loch, we don't want your missiles and we don't want your dollars."

After the rally the demonstra-

Liz Taylor Has Surgery To Save Life

Doctors Say Her Condition 'Grave' After The Operation

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor, stricken by pneumonia, underwent an emergency operation Saturday night to save her life. Doctors said afterwards her condition was grave.

The glamorous, 29 - year - old movie star and four-time Oscar award nominee, was rushed from an oxygen tent in her luxurious penthouse suite at the Dorchester Hotel to the exclusive London Clinic where doctors immediately performed a tracheotomy. The operation opens the windpipe to enable the patient to breathe.

Miss Taylor's husband, singer Eddie Fisher, stood by during the operation.

A medical statement said: "Mrs. Fisher has been suffering from a severe attack of staphylococcus pneumonia. She underwent an operation tonight of tracheotomy. Her condition remains grave."

Two doctors and three nurses were with Miss Taylor in the ambulance which sped her through rush-hour traffic in London's fashionable West End. Portable equipment to administer oxygen was in the vehicle.

Lord Evans, personal physician to Queen Elizabeth II, was one of the doctors who issued the medical statement. Another was Miss Taylor's personal physician, Dr. C. H. Goldman.

The doctors said they would be on call all night, in case her condition took a turn for the worse.

An anesthetist remained with her through the night, and all the facilities of the ultramodern clinic near Regents Park were available.

The decision that an operation was necessary to save Miss Taylor's life was reached after she had spent anxious hours in an oxygen tent in her hotel suite.

To Represent Sedalia In KC

Sandra Hammond Named Shrine Queen

Lovely Sandra Sue Hammond, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hammond, Jr., 1811 West Fifth, is indeed queen of beauty. In an exquisite formal of white taffeta and net, with rhinestone pin, Sandra was chosen Sedalia's queen to represent the Sedalia Shrine Club as queen candidate at the East-West Basketball game queen contest sponsored by the Ararat Shrine in Kansas City.

This is the second time Sandra Sue has been crowned queen in less than five months. She was also Sedalia Centennial Queen, crowned by Jack Oakie. Prior to that she won not only the city honors but was named state posture queen.

Sandra Sue is blonde with blue eyes, a very lovely skin and a beautiful smile. She is a senior at Smith-Cotton High School, and her hobbies are dancing, sewing and music.

The runners up were Carol Almquist, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. K. Almquist, 2419 Golf, also an attractive blonde who was last years queen candidate at the Ararat Shrine queen contest in Kansas City, and Janie Speaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Speaker, Otterville, a pretty brunette with blue eyes. Carol wore a formal of white nylon and lace and Janie's short formal was light blue.

Sandra Sue was crowned with a tiara of rhinestones placed on her head by the Handy Handley, president of the Sedalia Shrine Club.

A wrist watch from a local jeweler was presented by Morton Weakley and a dozen long steammed red roses from the Shrine Club were presented by Ray Williams.

Col. J. W. Donell, chairman of the contest, was master of ceremonies, and presented to Sandra Sue a certificate for her to purchase a formal and complete outfit to go with it to appear at the Ararat Shrine Queen Contest in Kansas City.

The girls were judged Saturday afternoon in street clothes and Saturday night in formals on personality, beauty and poise. All of the girls were exceptionally pretty and made a charming picture as they appeared on the stage in formals that included bright colors as well as white.

Each contestant was given two long stemmed red roses.

Tax Returns Being Made Early Here

A call by President Kennedy to citizens who had overpaid their income tax to file their returns early apparently has prompted a boost in early returns filed in the western half of Missouri.

Kennedy issued the call earlier so that refund checks could be pumped back into the lagging economy.

Figures released by Fred W. Johnson, assistant district director of the Internal Revenue Service in Kansas City, show individual returns filed during January and February took nearly a 52,000 jump over returns filed during the first two months of 1960.

Returns filed so far this year, Johnson said, totaled 258,239, compared to 206,908 filed at the same time last year.

Kennedy's plea helped the economy of western Missouri, which includes Sedalia and surrounding area, as over thre million extra dollars lying dormant in the US Treasury came back into circulation during January and February.

Refunds paid to date reached $6,355,982.24, the revenue official

District Engineer Says

Urban Street Plan Ahead of Schedule

Plans for the Urban Street Improvement Plan for Sedalia are about one year ahead of schedule, Robert Hunter, District Engineer for the Kansas City District, told members of the press, Mayor Abe Silverman and members of the Citizens Traffic Advisory Committee Friday afternoon.

The Highway Department has completed about 70 per cent of the planning. The right-of-way route has been planned and the necessary abstracts for property involved have been secured. Appraisals will be made soon. It will take about two months to make the appraisals, Hunter said, and actual purchasing should begin in about ten to 12 weeks.

"An Urban Plan project is not accomplished overnight. There are many things to consider, such as intersections, and it takes about three years from the time the project is approved until the contract can be let. The Sedalia project is about one year ahead of this schedule," Hunter said.

E. Glenn Lewis, chairman of the City Council's Street and Alley Committee, asked about repairs or renovation of the Highway, as it is routed through the city at the present time.

Hunter replied that the Highway Department has no plans to rebuild the present route, but that it will maintain the present route as in the past. He added that the department would look into the possibility of a new coating of some sort.

Harry Naugel asked Hunter to outline the Urban Plan, by project preference, which he did, as follows:

Highway 65 north to the area of the radio station, first. Broadway east from New York to the underpass, second. Main from Ohio to Limit and Ohio from the north intersection to Broadway, third. Broadway from Limi tto the city limits, last.

Shoe Factory Machines On High Speed

The Town & Country shoe factory is operating at full production, according to a report today from William Mathieson, vice president.

Mathieson said the problems of national recession and keen foreign competition has been met by the company with its attendant unemployment bound to affect the demand for shoes and clothing in general.

"Town & County has in excess of 450 full-time employes whose aggregate payroll last year approximated one and a half million dollars," Mathieson said. He also said that present trends indicate the company payroll will exceed that amount during the current year.

The explanation for this showin, is largely the result of a "quality improvement program" that Town & Country embarked on two years ago and it has resulted in better made shoes, and this high level of quality is giving the company many re-orders from satisfied customers, Mathieson said.

According to Monty McQuitty, personnel manager, Town & Country's main competition today comes from Italy. The company's customers are buying such lines as Amalfi and Contessa which are beautifully made shoes retailing for less money than the American-made counterpart. "It is only through prompt and efficient service with a well-made product that Town & County has met such foreign competition," McQuitty said.

Company officials feel that when business returns to more normal levels, the demand for Town & County shoes will be greater than ever before.

"Studies are under way now, by the management, to be ready, when business does forge ahead, to produce more shoes for its customers located in every important city in the United States, which will mean more and better jobs in Sedalia," Mathieson said.

With Traffic Committee

Increase of Speed Limit On Broadway Is Discussed

A recommendation to increase the speed limit on certain parts of Broadway from 30 to 40 miles per hour has been taken under consideration by the Citizens Traffic Advisory Committee, and the committee's recommendation should be made at the next committee meeting.

Robert Hunter, District Engineer for the Kansas City District of the State Highway Department, which includes Pettis County, met Friday afternoon with members of the committee, the press and Mayor Abe Silverman to discuss the matter.

Hunter, who was accompanied by Wilbur Stegner and G. B. Mayor, also engineers with the district, recommended that the limit be increased to 40 miles per hour on Broadway from the west city limits to Vermont, then drop the limit to 30 miles per hour from Vermont to east of the underpass, then increase to 40 miles per hour to the east city limits.

The engineer explained that the recommendations are based on scientific studies made by the department for the past two years, using radar to check the actual speed of traffic. He explained that the check showed 85 per cent of the traffic exceeded the 30-mile limit by about ten miles per hour.

Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin agreed that many drivers "crowded" the 30-mile limit, but set the average speed at about 35 miles per hour.

In addition to the tests, Hunter explained that in other cities, with much worse traffic congestion than Sedalia, the department had initiated 40-mile limits and the plan worked well. He added that the fact that Broaway is a four-lane, open street contributed to his making the 40-mile recommendation.

"People will set their own speed limits," Hunter said. "They will not, as a rule, drive faster than existing conditions permit. If the limit is 30, and the street is open with long visibility, traffic will exceed the 30-mile limit anyway."

He also recommended that the speed limit be increased to 40 miles per hour on parts of Highway 65 North and South.

In the ensuing discussion it was brought out that the police chief, who is a member of the traffic committee, and other members of the committee, are opposed to the speed limit increase. Opposition to the recommendation are the churches on Broadway, that Broadway School at the present time and Heber U. Hunt School later on will continue to cause congestion on Broadway.

Harry Naugel, a member of the committee, introduced W. A.

Bridge Collapses

COLLAPSED — This bridge on the "John Ryan Road" about two miles northeast of Sedalia, collapsed under a truck load of lime Friday afternoon. The truck, which had almost crossed the bridge, fell back into Cedar Creek when the I-beams on the bridge snapped. No one was injured. The wrecker shown, from Chamberlins, pulled out the truck, and later parts of the bridge. The bridge was maintained by the 12-Mile Road District. The truck belonged to G. L. Morris, Route 3, and was driven by him. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Congressional Committees

Where House Members Find Recognition and Power

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
DP&R Special Service

WASHINGTON — The congressional committee. . . .

There are 79 of them, ranging from the august Senate Foreign Relations to the joint Senate-House Permanent Committee for the Oliver Wendell Holmes Devise Fund.

How important are they? What do they do? Why would a congressman cut a friend's throat for a particular assignment?

Because the House is an awkward, unwieldly body too big for its job, its committees have far more significance and importance than the Senate committees. The Senate is small enough, with 100 members, as to be able to formulate legislation right on the floor. The House, with 437 members, cannot or at least should not.

As an example, last year when the minimum wage bill came to the House floor it was thoroughly rewritten, and the final product which passed contained a gigantic error which, to the surprise of all, eliminated over four million people from coverage. Thus there was no bill enacted.

But despite the sheer necessity for committees to do virtually all the legislative work of the House, perhaps the biggest reason House committees are so important is that they manifest the seniority system and offer about the only means for a House member to achieve political salvation.

Here in Washington, the average congressman is not a very important man. Rarely if ever is his advice sought on major problems, the party-givers don't even know he exists and it is a memorable occasion when his name gets in a local newspaper or in the New York Times.

But all this changes if he can climb to the top of the ladder and become committee chairman. Regardless of his qualities, he becomes chairman of his committee simply by staying around long enough. Then he is, indeed, a powerful man, whose advice is sought and who is wined and dined, and who reads about himself almost daily.

What a committee does depends pretty much on what the chairman wants done. He has a large staff at his disposal, he appoints subcommittees and subcommittee chairmen and allocates them bills to study. He can authorize study missions to such strategic places as Hawaii, Paris, Puerto Rico, the Mediterranean or Rio. The White House treats him like a partner.

Thousands of bills are introduced each year. Most of these are never meant to be enacted, but rather to please some group or win a headline back home. But they all have to be "considered" by some committee. Most of these are filed away by committee chairmen to die when the present congress dies.

Legitimate bills are turned over to a subcommittee by the committee chairman. It is this subcommittee which hears witnesses, makes studies, and turns the bill it gets into a workable piece of legislation. With rare exceptions the full committee approves the subcommittee's action.

When the committee approves a major bill, it then sends it to the House Committee on Rules which is supposed to set a date for it to go to the House floor for action. But Rules has taken it on itself to decide whether a bill is needed or not and often kills legislation right there.

If either a regular committee or the Rules committee fails to approve a bill, it is virtually impossible for the full House to get a whack at it. While it can be said that the Senate runs committees, the House is run by its committees.

Mohammed's Death, Loss Of A Real Friend

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Ex-President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States "has lost a real friend" with the death of King Mohammed V of Morocco.

Says Pants Are Safer for Small Girls to Wear

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Fashion may frown but a physician told some 3,000 firemen Thursday that little girls ought to wear pants instead of skirts.

In his talk before the annual National Fire Department Instructors conference, Dr. Moyer, a faculty member at the school of medicine of Washington University, said: "There is no good reason for holding to a form of dress when a modification thereof makes the clothing safer.

"Fifty years ago little boys were dressed in skirts for no reason. It is now time that little girls be dressed in pants for a reason—

Intramural Stage Plays Near at S-C High School

By MARIAN McKINNEY

The intramural plays, an annual event at Smith-Cotton, are less than one week away. The Junior High plays will be presented Thursday evening, March 9, and the Senior High plays will be given Friday evening, March 10. Tickets may be purchased from any Smith-Cotton student.

The eighth grade play, "Billy's First Date," is being directed by Don Richardson and the co-director is Carolyn Satterwhite. The cast members are Linda Hancock, Lou Ann Lang, Loneta Martin, Lucy Lockett, Joyce Bottcher, Bill Bob Long, Larry Dowdy, and Jim Sparks. The play concerns a thirteen year old boy and his first date, which he didn't want in the first place. His parents seemed to think it was time for him to start going out so he asked a young lady for a date and to his surprise she accepted. He rushed upstairs to get dressed and forgot to tell his mother about it, so she proceeded to call up another girl for him to go out with.

The situation is comical and it should be a very enjoyable play.

The Freshman play, "Three Daughters to Marry," is being directed by Gloria Taylor and the co-director is Kay Williams. The cast is Nick Goss, Scarlett Cooper, Shirley Klein, Toni Giger, Shirley Turner, Chris Roose, Tony Forsberg, and Monty McQuitty. The play is a comedy about an over-anxious, over - conscientious mother's efforts to get her three daughters suitably on their way to marriage.

The play is in very capable hands and is sure to delight the audience.

The Sophomore play, "Tourist Troubles," is being directed by Janet Hamilton and the co-director is Peggy Paxson. The cast members are Linda Burton, Judy Lutjen, Janet Landes, Vivian Rowles, Donna Howell, Bill Hurt, Kenny Schilb, C. B. Hagar, Larry Crouch, and Tom Kelly. The play shows the amount of trouble that two motel owners have on opening night. Each occupant interrupts them for one reason or another and in the meantime the police come looking for an escaped lunatic.

It promises to be very amusing.

The Junior play, "Riding High," is being directed by Sandra Hammond and the co-director is Carol Hampton. The cast is composed of Bobbie Beucus, Jane Jolly, Ray Hopkins, Charles McCune, Judy Whitfield, Judy Scott, Mike Larson, and Jill Ragland. The play concerns the placid life of the Bar Circle Ranch and how it is thoroughly upset when three ladies from the city purchase the ranch and decide to run it.

This play should provide a bit of fun for the audience.

The Senior play, "Comin' Round the Mountain," is being directed by Alan Schlosser and the co-director is Jackie Peace. The cast members are Betty Sue Edde, Richard Middleton, Judy Sumners, Sherrie Parker, Judy Inglish, Barbara Zalin, Roy Peaks, and Waymon Hofheins. The play is a humorous portrayal of a typical hillbilly family. Zeke Benis, a young mountain boy, wants to propose to Daisy Crockett, who is always sleeping. Zeke's efforts to keep Daisy awake plus a search for the masked bandit by the local sheriff should entertain the audience.

Junior High Assembly

Wednesday morning, March 1, the Junior High enjoyed a delightful assembly as various members of the eighth and ninth grades participated in a family talent show.

The program was launched to a fine start by Lynn Hudson and his mother as he played a trombone solo of "The Holy City" and she accompanied him on the piano.

A vocal solo followed as Mike Rooks sang "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" and was accompanied on the piano by his mother.

Marsha Eding and her brother Dennis played a piano duet.

Changing the pace was an unusual magic act performed by David White and his father.

A piano duet by Dawn Roseboom and her mother, the fifth number on the program, was a tune called "Trees."

Bill Brown and his sister Jebby played a trumpet duet of "It's All in the Game."

A dramatic reading from "The Diary of Anne Frank" was well-presented by Paula Stribling.

Kerry Taylor closed the program with a humorous reading from the play "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Freshman Party

The Freshman class had a party Friday night, March 3, for selling the most PTA memberships. A nice crowd turned out for the event and everyone enjoyed the evening.

The decorations were quite effective and the committee should be commended. The chairman was Cynthia Lower and Kathy Kinshella was the co-chairman. The rest of the committee was composed of Jerry Austin, Mary Roberts, Susan Glenn, and Barbara Burford.

The committee for the talent show was headed by Dianne Kinder as chairman and Nancy Evans as co-chairman. The remaining members of this group were Linda Strader, Harlan Rossman, Lawrence Collins, and Jerry Hilburn.

Tuberculin Test

The tuberculin test will be given next Monday and Tuesday, March 6 and 7, to all students who wish to take it and have their parents' consent.

Consent slips were sent home last week for the parents to sign.

If a positive sign is prevalent the student will be given a free X-ray at Bothwell Hospital, and if this is also positive then the student's family will be given a free X-ray.

Student Congress

The Student Congress was held at Jefferson City on Feb. 24 and 25 in the Senate and House Chambers of the Capitol building. They held three sessions and Larry Chastain was runner-up for National Senator of Missouri. Jeff Lockett was voted outstanding Representative for Missouri for the Nationals which will be held in Pittsburgh, Pa., this coming June.

Poster Contest

A poster contest is being held to stimulate reading in the Junior High. The posters are on display in the trophy case and all of them are quite good. Those participating in the contest are Jim Chapman, Glenn Balch, Warren Wear, Dianna Grey, David Grey, and Jerry Stevens.

Debate Squad

The Smith-Cotton debate squad traveled to Concordia Saturday, Feb. 18, for a speech tournament.

David Hood took first place in original oratory with his presentation entitled, "Keep the Faith," and Karen Sue Rissler won a first place rating in radio speaking.

David Hood was rated third in dramatic interpretation.

Harold MacAninch is the sponsor of speech work at Smith-Cotton.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club met Wednesday, March 1, with Judy Franklin presiding.

Some of the members of the club will be going to the open house at St. Mary's Hospital in Kansas City on March 12 and the entire group will be going to the KU Medical Center on April 8.

Save the Children Federation

During the next week the students of all the Sedalia Public Schools are asked to gather good, used clothing for children and adults in underprivileged areas in the United States, and for victims of war and disaster in overseas countries.

Variety Show

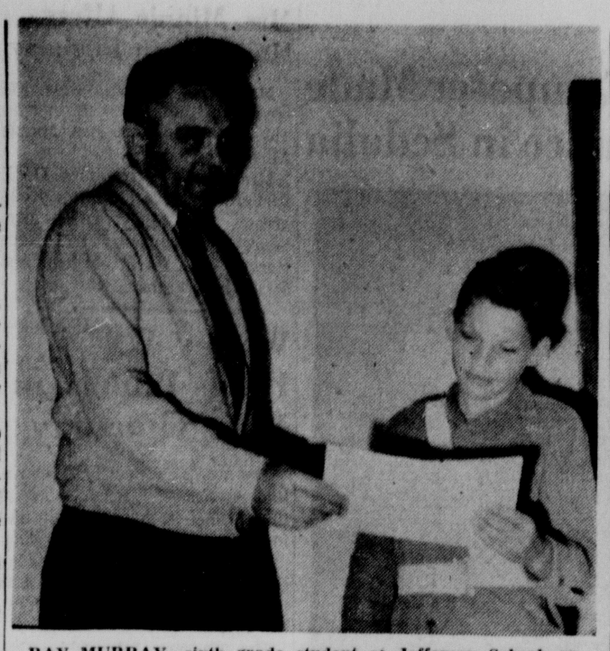

The clothing will be collected at Smith-Cotton March 16 and 17, and it may be brought or sent in bags or cartons.

Your help and support will be greatly appreciated.

The annual Variety and Style Show is in rehearsal and promises to be a good one. The theme chosen for this year is "Babes in Toyland."

National Merit Scholarship Test

All Juniors are asked to be in the cafeteria Tuesday morning at 8:20 for the qualifying test. It will last approximately three and one-half hours and the students should have at least two soft lead pencils.

RAY MURRAY, sixth grade student at Jefferson School, receives the School Safety Patrol Award for February from the school's principal, John Vogel. The system of awards is sponsored by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital and the Automobile Club of Missouri. Ray, 12, a son of Mrs. Maria Thomas, 316 North Hill, was chosen for his performance by principal Vogel. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Two Guard Units Rate Superior At Inspection

Units of the Missouri Army National Guard headquartered at the armory here received superior ratings following two inspections held recently.

Both inspections involved a detailed going over of vehicles weapons, and other equipment assigned the respective units.

Plan Cancer Crusade For Next Month

Volunteers from several adjacent counties met with the Johnson County unit at U-Smile Motel Wednesday, March 1, to discuss plans for the 1961 Cancer Crusade which takes place in April. It was one of 16 similar meetings scheduled throughout the state by the Missouri Division of the American Cancer Society in preparation for its annual educational and fund-raising campaign.

A goal of $650,000 for Missouri was announced. Forty per cent of funds raised in the state go to the national society where 25 per cent is used for research, 12 per cent for administration and national programs, and three per cent for fellowships to train scientists in cancer research. Thus, sixty per cent remains in the state for the program of the Missouri Division.

On the program were Mrs. Frank F. Whitehead of Neosho, vice president of the Missouri Division; Mrs. Carol Mathis of Kansas City, executive of the Kansas City unit; Harry M. Dawdy, executive vice president of the Missouri Division; Orus Wilson, director of public education, and Homer F. Davis, director of public relations, all of Jefferson City.

Mrs. Whitehead emphasized the necessity of volunteers being informed about the policies, purposes, and programs of the society. She pointed out that many citizens are uninformed about the work of the American Cancer Society in its three-pronged attack on cancer — research, education, and service. She also spoke on the financial needs of the organization.

"The society was unable to make a number of desirable research grants last year because of insufficient funds," she said. "We all hope we will raise enough this April to catch up with the research requirements. To do this we are urging every county and every person to "better your best" this coming April.

Also on the program were: Mrs. Barton Seney and John Ward.

Those attending from Pettis County were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Norton, Mr. and Mrs. David Sands, Mrs. Edward Christian and Mrs. Donald Remer.

Percy Grainger Dies

Well-Known Composer Made Guest Appearance in Sedalia

Abe Rosenthal and Percy Grainger

A picture of Percy Grainger, Australian-American composer, pianist and conductor, appeared in the New York Times on Feb. 21, along with an article about his death the previous morning in White Plains Hospital.

To many people who read the article in the New York Times, or read of Percy Grainger's death in other papers throughout the world it meant the end of a long and brilliant musical career. He was known the world over, and his compositions, gained popularity and acceptance of the folk music he loved so well.

But to a man in Kensington, Md., it brought back memories of a Midwestern town where he had lived and the thrill of playing in the orchestra where the famous Percy Grainger was the guest artist.

The man was Earl H. Luboeansky, the date was Wednesday, Feb. 7, 1940, and the orchestra was the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra, directed by Abe Rosenthal.

Luboeansky clipped the article and wrote a letter to Rosenthal in which he said: "The enclosed article in the New York Times caused me to think of you. It was a grand experience for me to have played in an orchestra with Percy Grainger as guest artist. I am sure you will recall the occasion."

Abe Rosenthal did, indeed, recall the occasion. It was one of the greatest highlights of his life. In the book in which he keeps a record of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra is the program presented by Grainger.

The last part of the program Percy Grainger conducted the orchestra in playing three of his own compositions, "Mock Morris," "Colonial Song" and "Shepherd's Hey."

His four piano solos were "Cradle Song, op. 49, No. 4" Brahms; "Juba Dance" Nathanial Dett; "Irish Tune from County Derry" set by Grainger and "Maguire's Kick (Irish March-Jig) Stanford-Grainger.

Percy Aldridge Grainger was born in Melbourne, Australia, on July 8, 1882.

His first lessons were from his mother, who was a piano teacher, and later he studied with Louis Pabst, a concert pianist. At the age of ten he started to play in public which financed his studies in Germany and England, and in 1900 gave concerts in those two countries, later making a tour of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

Edward Greig, whom he met in 1906, became a major influence on his career. He was encouraged by Greig and became famous for his performances of the Greig Piano Concerto.

He came to the United States in 1914, with his mother, and settled here, but shortly after his successful debut enlisted in the Army and played the oboe and saxophone in the Fifteenth Coast Artillery Band at Fort Hamilton in Brooklyn.

In 1919 he became an American citizen and two years later moved to White Plains, his home until his death. His mother jumped to her death in 1922 from the 18th floor of the Aoelian Hall Building on 42nd street.

In 1928 he was married to Ella Viola Stroem, a Swedish painter and poet, before 22,000 people in the Hollywood Bowl. As part of the festivities he conducted his orchestral work, "To a Nordic Princess" a bridal song dedicated to his wife, Mrs. Grainger survives.

Mr. Grainger considered himself first a composer and it was his ambition to create a music free of German and Italian influences. He did not hesitate to ignore conventional musical procedures when he wishes. In spite of the conservative flavor of his music there were many rhythmic and instrumental innovations.

With a great shock of hair, first orange-red and later white, he was once a familiar sight on the American concert scene. He wrote hundreds of songs, and preferred to write for voices and for instrumental combinations rather than for the piano.

Somewhat of an eccentric he once was arrested as a suspicious character when he arrived at Wausau, Wis., for concert in 7 below zero weather wearing white ducks, no hat or coat and, of course, his knapsack, for in his youth he tramped up and down England collecting folk songs, and later years often walked to a concert with his knapsack containing cheese and Swedish hardtack.

Another time he did not appear at concert time and they found him asleep on top of the concert grand — in his khakis.

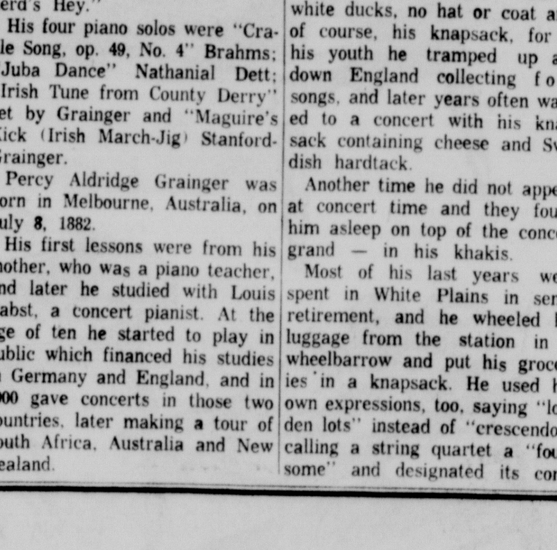

Most of his last years were spent in White Plains in semi-retirement, and he wheeled his luggage from the station in a wheelbarrow and put his groceries in a knapsack. He used his own expressions, too, saying "louden lots" instead of "crescendo," calling a string quartet a "foursome" and designated its components as "fiddles", "mid-fiddle" and "bass fiddle."

And so a colorful personality in the world of music has died, and brought to Abe Rosenthal the letter from Luboeansky in which he wrote:

"It has been many years since I saw you last and I played with the symphony orchestra under you. However, I reflect many times on the wonderful experience I had in the Sedalia Symphony. I have a son now who plays French horn better than I ever did. He's going to California Institute of Technology and plays with a group they call the "Waldhorn and Wienerschnitzel" group. I have been in the Foreign Service of the United States since 1949 and have served in Germany, the Philippines, and Spain. I am now getting ready to go to Rio de Janeiro.

"I hope the orchestra in Sedalia is still going strong. It was an institution which you and the people of Sedalia could well be proud."

Music Club Names Hymn Of the Month

The hymn recognized by the National Federation of Music Clubs as the "Hymn of the Month" for March, and presented to the community by the Helen G. Steele Music Club, is "O Word of God Incarnate."

The text is based on Psalm 119:105, "Thy word is a lantern unto my feet, and a light unto my paths." Its author, Bishop William Walsham How, was born in 1823, the son of an Irish lawyer. He had an Oxford education and was curate, rector, canon and bishop. He is especially remembered for dynamic leadership in work on behalf of the poor of London. Bailey says, "His large heart, untiring energy and genuine interest in the spiritual welfare of his flocks brought him the respect and love of all who knew him." Speaking of hymns, Bailey states "Some of them are the best loved in our hymnody. They embody his own ideal: 'A good hymn should be like a good prayer — simple, real, earnest, and reverent'."

How's hymns, about 60 in number, were all written when he was rector at Whittington between 1858 and 1871.

The tune Munich was first published in the "Neuvermehrtes Meiningisches Gesangbuch," 1693. According to Johannes Zahn, it was a composite of parts of melodies found in a Psalter printed in Regensperg in 1675. According to the preface of that psalter most of the tunes were composed by Kradenthaller, organist at Regensperg. The present arrangement is that of the quartet, "Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord" from Felix Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

The parents of Felix Mendelssohn were talented in many ways. Their four children became accomplished musicians. Felix made his first public appearance as a pianist at the age of nine and when 12 composed many works. Among his greatest work are the incidental music to a "Midsummer Night's Dream," the "Reformation Symphony," "St. Paul" and "Elijah."

Mendelssohn organized the famous Domchor in Berlin, founded the Leipzig Conservatory of Music. He was especially popular in England where Queen Victoria was impressed with his religious interests.

Named to 1961 Loan Committee

J. E. Mitchell, executive vice-president and secretary of the First Savings Association of Sedalia, has been appointed to the 1961 committee on supervision and examination of the United States Savings and Loan League.

The appointment was announced today by C. Elwood Knapp, of Pittsburgh, Pa., president of the league, which is the nationwide trade organization of the savings and loan business and represents more than 4,700 savings associations and co-operative banks.

The committee on supervision and examination studies methods and procedures for improving supervision of savings institutions by public agencies and has developed, over the years, information on savings and loan association operations helpful to public supervisory bodies.

on means of halting the wave of anti-U.N. violence.

The seaborne threat caused the 24-man force of Sudanese to withdraw from the downriver port town and find refuge in the important U.N. base at Kitona.

Under orders from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold that the base must be relieved of any threat, U.N. headquarters flew a contingent of Indonesian forces to the area to restore the situation and began special truce talks on the spot. A Canadian major and Col. Albert Kiembe, Congolese army chief of staff, flew to the area to conduct the talks.

Anti-U.N. violence has been increasing since the adoption of the Security Council resolution that would let the U.N. forces use force to meet force in the Congo.

This raised fears of Congolese soldiers that the U.N soldiers would try to disarm them. There have been a series of assaults, with U.N. soldiers beaten and forced to give up their weapons.

Three days ago Interior Minister Cyril Adoula promised at a news conference that steps would be taken to halt the attacks.

U.N. soldiers were ordered to shoot if attacked.

• Accidents

Two cars were damaged in an accident at Seventh and Massachusetts at 3:02 p.m. Friday. Involved were a 1956 Studebaker driven by Marion Thomas Canfield, 200 South Washington, and a 1953 Chrysler driven by Albert Lee Moore, 210½ East Second.

The Studebaker was traveling east on Seventh and the Chrysler was traveling South on Massachusetts when the accident occurred. The Studebaker received damage to the right front and the Chrysler to the right side and front.

Two persons were injured in a one-car accident which occurred about 4 p.m. Friday on Highway 127, six miles south of Sweet Springs in Pettis County.

Injured were Leroy Phillip Marinell, 19, Highland Park, Ill., who received a laceration of the head, and James Robert LaSarre, 21, Riverside, Ill., who received a fractured right arm. Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle, Missouri Highway Patrol, who investigated, reported that both men were taken to the Community Hospital in Sweet Springs and treated by Dr. Charles Worley.

Van Winkle reported that both men were thrown from the car, LaSarre apparently going through the windshield.

The car, a 1961 Triumph coach, was reportedly driven north on Highway 127 by Marinell. The car is owned by LaSarre. The Triumph was demolished, Van Winkle said, and towed to the Hall Motor Co., in Sweet Springs.

Both men are students at Missouri Valley College, Marshall.

A 53-year-old Warrensburg man and his six-year old daughter were given emergency treatment at the Whiteman Air Force base hospital shortly after noon Saturday following a two car accident on Highway 50 near the Johnson-Pettis county lines.

Fred C. Graf and his daughter Ruth were the injured. The girl had a laceration on her head and Mr. Graf suffered bruises and contusions and a possible fracture of the left shoulder, according to Trooper W. T. Southwick, Missouri Highway Patrolman making the investigation.

The pickup truck driven by Graf was struck on the left rear by a car driven by Violet L. Morris, 33, 1408 South Ohio. Mrs. Morris was not injured, according to Southwick. The pickup turned over once following impact, Southwick said, and returned to an upright position.

Both vehicles were damaged extensively.

Mrs. Morris was given a summons.

Graf's truck was towed to Knob Noster by Smiley's and Mrs. Morris' car was towed to Sedalia by Bacon's.

Tax Assistance Provided Many Area Residents

The Internal Revenue Department office in the local Post Office has been a busy place the past two months. Although the known returns that have been made to the Internal Revenue Department's office in Kansas City from this area is not officially known, it is known that 732 persons were assisted in their reports through the local agency.

Lacy P. Belt, Internal Revenue Agent for this area, stated that 732 persons were assisted with their returns at the local office by Rick Fullerton and Simon Glass, Jr., Revenue Officers, and himself.

Supplemented with the personal contacts made at the office were 611 telephone inquiries of persons who were compiling their own income tax returns and were seeking explanation of certain portions of the income tax return.

Belt also said that although some days the Officers and himself were in the local office other than Mondays, the regular office day is "Monday."

It was also stated the deadline for tax returns this year is April 17th. Whenever the April 15th deadline date falls upon a Saturday or Sunday, it then advances to the next working day, which this year falls on Monday April 17.

Refugee Aid Big Program For Churches

CAIRO (AP)—Life looked hopeless to a Palestine Arab named Hussein Khatib when both his legs had to be amputated. But today he operates a thriving business as a tinsmith, thanks to a timely loan from people far away.

Fathieh Nassart bought her career as a kindergarten teacher was ended when she lost one leg. But she was given an artificial leg and now is active in kindergarten work among the children of fellow refugees in Gaza.

A Bedouin family driven out of its home inside Israel got a gift of three sheep and now is expanding the "capital" into a flock.

These cases are typical of the kind of aid being given to Arab refugees by Christians from points as far away as Liverpool and Sydney, Kansas City and Stockholm. Aid is channeled through an inter-denominational organization called the Near East Christian Council Committee for Refugee Work.

Related to the World Council of Churches and the International Missionary Council, NECCCRW gets its funds and support from church groups in the United States, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, and Europe. Its work is to provide relief and, where possible, means of support for Arab refugees left destitute by the 1948 Palestine War. The work sprawls over Lebanon, the United Arab Republic, Jordan and the Gaza Strip.

There now are more than a million Arab refugees, all of whom left home inside what is now Israel 13 years ago. The bulk of these refugees get food rations, shelter, medical treatment and education from the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA). But thousands of destitute Arabs fail to qualify as refugees under the U. N. definition, and NECCCRW tries to fill the gap.

For example, if an Arab farmer in Jordan has lost all his land to Israel but still is in his own house, the U. N. does not consider him a refugee. There are some 120,000 in this category. Around 10,000 Palestinians came to Egypt after the 1948 war with enough money to live on, they thought. With the passing of time, they have exhausted their resources, but they are not considered refugees by the U. N.

Records complete to 1960 show that the committee had given small loans to 1,057 families, in the hope of making them self-supporting.

These loans are interest free, but NECCCRW insists on repayment as soon as possible. The money then can be used to help make some other refugee self-supporting.

NECCCRW was organized in 1951 and now is headed by executive secretary Willard Jones, an old Middle East hand who for many years was principal of the Friends Boys School in Ramallay, Palestine.

STILL ACTIVE — Lord Clement Atlee, Laborite who defeated Winston Churchill in a postwar election and became prime minister, bids his wife adieu at London Airport. He flew to India for a three-week lecture-tour, discussing "Democracy and the United Nations."

Should They Be Fired? No!

Public discussion of public affairs, especially pertaining to city government and the various phases of its operation and management, is a characteristic of the democratic process.

The consequences of such procedure inevitably invite intemperate opinions which sometimes stray far afield from the subject matter under consideration. The flaming passion of inadequate understanding in such argumentative circumstances usually burns itself out in time, leaving tempered judgment to prevail.

We hope this transmutation will occur to the current hassle over Sedalia's Board of Public Works and management of the Water Department which originated over fishing privileges at Spring Fork Lake and was nurtured by the recent proposals for increase in city water rates.

Protestations over the water board's original edict of a 35 per cent increase erupted like a volcano. City Council and the Water Board after some heated exchanges and ordinance restraints mutually determined on an adjusted rate of 15 per cent, albeit reluctantly on the part of the champions of the 35 per cent proposal.

After city council agreed to go along with the 15 per cent raise, many citizens thought the eruption had subsided. This expectation of dormancy was premature. The second blast came in the form of a petition to city council signed by irate citizens.

It appears that the petition signers will be mollified with nothing less than the scalps of the water board members and the manager they employed soon after the city acquired the water company property.

This belated attempt to induce city council and the mayor to stage a sacrificial, spectacular performance at city hall is now under consideration of council as a whole.

The presumption is that the petitioners' request is in order to the end that all citizens have a right to be heard on public matters of concern to them. The public interest in this case will best be served by studied assessment of the complaints and subsequent cool judgment of the elected representatives of the people.

Our own concept of the situation is that much of the street corner discussion about the lack of business acumen of the board members is grotesque exaggeration. Neither are they dunderheads who should be thrown to the lions. Even without charity, we all know these men are of good character and ability.

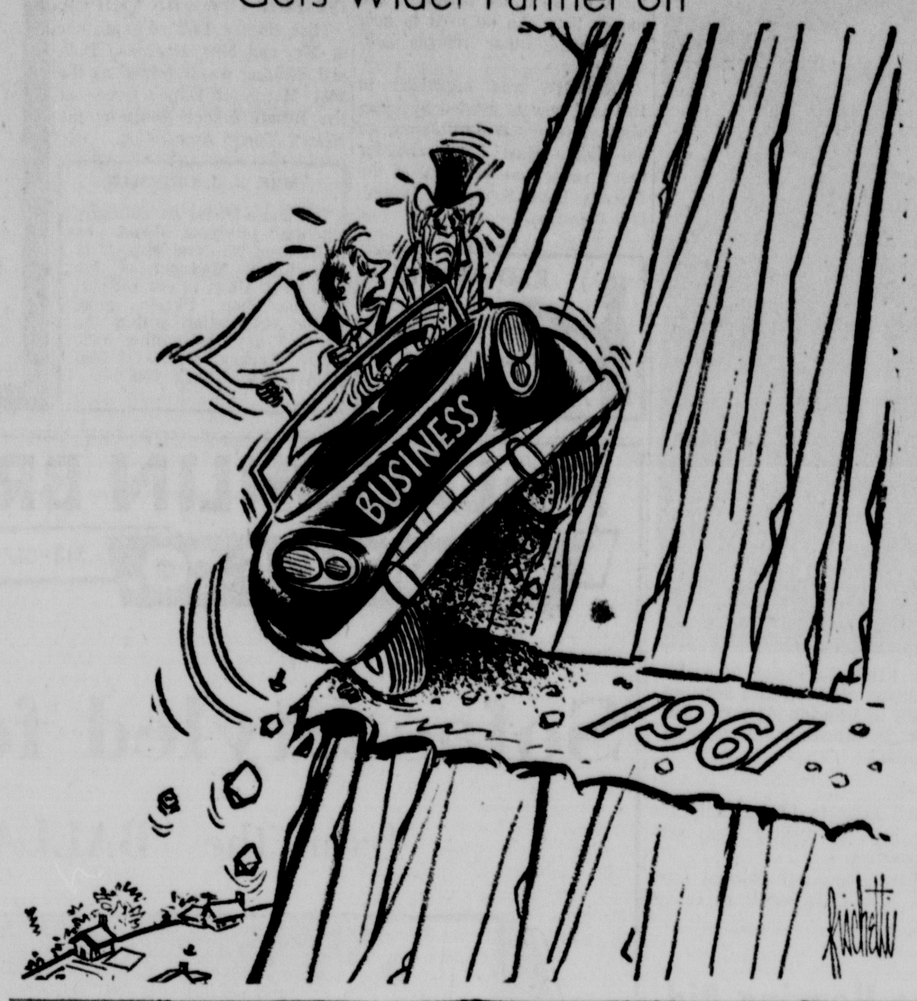

The appointed terms of the board members expire at intervals and their removal can be accomplished progressively in an orderly manner if such a procedure in the future has any real merit.

In the meantime none can honestly believe these men will deliberately act in a manner inimical to the public interest.

Wholesale emasculation of the Board of Works at this time therefore is inadvisable and not in the public interest.

We encourage city council to view this matter in the same temperate light.

"The Map Shows the Road Gets Wider Further on"

The 4-H Clover

The lovely 4-H clover,
White H upon the green,
To every 4-H member,
So very much does mean,
Busy girls and busy boys
Learning how to do
Things that will be useful
In later life to you,
Learning how to make things
Out of cloth or wood,
Learning how to dress and act
Just the way you should,
Learning how to stand before
An audience and speak,
At first your knees are shaky,
And your voice gets kinda weak,
Learning about cattle
And how to raise the best,
Learning how to do things
Enough to pass the test;
Learning about furniture
And home decorations,
Learning about cooking,
Giving demonstrations,
Each year up the ladder
4-H'ers get a thrill
Of doing things together
And developing a skill;
High type, happy youngsters
To 4-H belong,
Health and Hands, Head and Heart
Combine to make them strong,
Purity, hope and ideals,
They serve wher'er they can
Creating, building, sharing,
This is the 4-H plan,
Singing, playing, doing,
Having lots of fun,
A salute to 4-H members
From ten to twenty-one.

What They Say in Letters to Editor

WILLIAM R. MABRY (2107 South Missouri) — I would like to say a few things on our present hottest subject. You guessed it — water. Perhaps, more properly, the operation and management of our water company.

First off, let me say, I have no resentment or prejudice against anyone. Nor am I a candidate, or expect to be, for any office. I do, however enjoy the privilege of expressing an opinion on things of importance to my community. I have closely followed the present controversies over the raise of water service rates. I do not wish to criticize anyone personally. I feel that the leaders of both the pros and cons have done this, in some cases at least, by letting their personal feelings shape their judgment. One of the most essentials of good government, perhaps the most important one, is confidence in the men we select for the job. If they fail to live up to their promises and obligations, then they should be replaced. Fradulent mis-use of public funds is perhaps a subject for grand jury investigation. But mistakes are not crimes. However, mistakes are a very poor recommendation on which to hold or seek employment or trust. Extravagance is not a crime. Extravagance however, denotes inefficiency especially when you're spending or squandering that which is not your own.

Now I do not think there is anyone, naive enough to believe, that any private company would operate for long at a loss. Let us remember, also, that private companies pay taxes. They secure necessary raises by going before the Board of Equalization in Jefferson City and showing why they must ask more for public services. First they must show why. Then they are allowed, not always what they ask, but what is considered fair. I believe our council offered even more than is fair to our present management.

Now I have signed no petition nor do I wish to criticize anyone personally; but I cannot have much confidence in a body, who says they must have a certain amount and then would want to operate on less. I, too, am a civil engineer, one of the first members of the Missouri Professional Society. So in my opinion, the figures of any engineering company could have been nothing more than an estimate.

That there has been some extravagance, in the operation of our water system, is true beyond doubt. Fishing in our lake is of little importance as it is a poor place to fish anyway; although it is foolish to contend fishing would pollute the water. Swimming may be, but not fishing.

In closing, I would suggest new management, with the city council and mayor as the final authority on the needs of our public properties. If they don't or can't do a commendable job; then the people will look for men who can and will, the next time elections roll around.

L. L. STUDER (721 West Third) It is my considered opinion that the majority of our citizens are in favor of the advisability of the reopening of the Spring Fork Reservoir to permit fishing, swimming, etc. under proper supervision, without charge to children, but with a modest annual charge to adults. The property belongs to the citizens of Sedalia and the payments that they will make for the privilege to fish and swim on their own property will most certainly more than pay for the cost and maintenance of such additional filtering equipment that may be essentially necessary to properly filter the water to conform to State Health requirements. Most of our citizens, including the writer, do not want this privilege for themselves, but do want it for citizens who may want to fish and swim on their own property and would be willing to pay for the privilege of doing so.

NEW FRONTIERS in Religion

4. Putting the Layman In His Place

By J. CARTER SWAIM
Executive Director of the Department of the English Bible, National Council of Churches

Sam Higginbottom was a missionary so down-to-earth that he spent his life trying to improve the agriculture of India. He said good religion involved crop rotation, contour farming and improvement of dairy herds. He wrote a book entitled "The Gospel and The Plow."

Dr. Swaim

Though never ordained as a minister, Higginbottom was elected to the highest office in his denomination. During the year he occupied this position, this scientific farmer, noting that his predecessors had been concerned to teach preachers how to preach, said he regarded it as his duty to teach laymen how to be laymen.

One of Christianity's New Frontiers involves getting laymen to realize that the church belongs to them. They ARE the church. It is the teaching of the New Testament that the church is "a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation" (I Peter 2:9). This applies to every member in it. The church consists of the people of God. Ideally it does not depend upon professional good people to be its leaders. Clergymen are simply members of the church relieved of other responsibilities in order that they may give their full time to teaching the young and instructing inquirers.

Moses, described in the Old Testament as the greatest of the prophets, wished "that all the Lord's people were prophets" (Numbers 11:29). The New Testament declares that such a time has come: "you can all prophesy" (1 Corinthians 14:31) Nowadays, it seems much simpler to pay someone to prophesy for us, pray for us, be good for us.

Luncheon clubs are made up of people connected with church and synagogue, but before the meal they always make sure a clergyman is on hand to return thanks. A community gathering may have hundreds of people from scores of congregations, but they always ask one clergyman to offer the invocation, another to pronounce the benediction. An armed forces unit, even though made up entirely of men affiliated with religious groups back home, wishes to have a chaplain bless its enterprise.

It was not so in the beginning. The early church did not leave the preaching, the praying and the singing to professionals. The church in Corinth, although but recently called out of heathendom, had many eager to participate in its public assemblies: "When you come together, each one has a hymn, a lesson, a revelation, a tongue or an interpretation" (1 Corinthians 14:26). In fact, so many were eager to take part that the real difficulty was in keeping them from all talking at once!

In generations just preceding our own, some of the most effective leaders the church had were laymen. Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist; John R. Mott, student leader and prophet of the ecumenical movement; Robert E. Speer missionary statesman — none of these was ever ordained.

Symbolic of its desire to reach the New Frontier, the National Council of Churches has for its president this triennium a layman, a manufacturer of diesel engines who still has time to read his New Testament in Greek, teach a Sunday School class, and participate willingly in denominational and inter-denominational gatherings concerned with finding ways in which the Gospel may be put to work in industry, education and international affairs. Are you as a layman willing to have religion given back to the people?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Support of Trujillo Leaves Latins Cold

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson, writing from Venezuela, which Castro recently tried to take over, tells of lunching with President Betancourt.)

CARACAS, Venezuela. — Senators Eastland of Mississippi and Ellender of Louisiana should take a look at President Betancourt's hands. So also should Congressman Harold Cooley of North Carolina.

As I sat on the wide, cool veranda of the President's old-fashioned Spanish-type ranch house, I couldn't help noticing his hands. They were raw and red almost as if they had been through a meat-grinder. I looked away. The President struck a match to light his pipe, and I couldn't help noticing his hands again.

Then I remembered. His hands apparently had not yet recovered from the assassination attempt of last June when a carefully placed bomb had been touched off by electronic signal at the very moment Betancourt was about to review the Army Day parade. The presidential limousine had become a blazing inferno. Betancourt's aide, trapped in the front seat, was cremated. The Minister of Defense, seated beside the President, has suffered from deafness ever since. The President himself, hammering at the stuck door, could not get out. A bystander rushed up, opened the door.

Miraculously, Betancourt escaped, his face burned like a man who has gone through the fires of Hades, his hands a purple mass of flesh.

The plot which touched off that bomb was one of the most cleverly hatched in history. For the first time in history electronic devices were used in an attempt to kill a President.

Who Hatched The Plot?

The organization of the American states has now made an official report on the tragedy and singled out President Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic as the conspirator behind the crime.

The Dominican dictator sent a man all the way to Madrid to bring back an exiled Venezuelan naval officer. And he, Trugilli, conferred with the head of the Dominican military intelligence, Col. Johnny Abbes Garcia, and other conspirators in hatching the plot and supplying the materials to carry it out.

The bomb was placed in the trunk of a car, carefully parked where President Betancourt would pass. Then one of the conspirators stood, ready to tip his hat in salute to the President, as the signal to detonate the bomb by short-wave radio. It all worked out — except that by a split second the bomb went off too soon.

Following the report of the OAS, the foreign ministers of the Pan American governments met in San Jose last summer and took the unprecedented step of voting to break all diplomatic and economic relations with the Dominican Republic. But when President Eisenhower, in conformity with that resolution, asked Congress not to give any of the Cuban sugar quota to the Dominican Republic, here was the reaction.

1. Senator Ellender of Louisiana remarked: "What Latin America needs is more dictators like Trujillo."

2. Senator Eastland of Mississippi remarked: "I wish there was a Trujillo in every country in Central and South America."

3. Rep. Cooley of North Carolina, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, moved to give Trujillo extra sugar — and succeeded. His sister, Mrs. Mabel Downey, together with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cooley, had made a trip to the Dominican Republic at Trujillo's expense, staying at the ritzy Jaragua Hotel, the Boca Chica Seaside Resort, and the Hamaca Beach Club.

These solons should take a look at the raw, red hands of President Betancourt before they vote on sugar again.

Black Eye For U. S.

The Congressional vote to give Trujillo a large slice of the Cuban sugar quota one month after every Pan American government had voted to ostracize him, hurt us in Latin America more than any other single event of the past year.

Other members of Congress who went along with the sugar award, when they could have stopped it, included Democratic majority leader John McCormack of Boston who was decorated by Trujillo; Don Jackson of California, and Gardner Withrow of Wisconsin, both entertained by Trujillo and both praising him frequently on the Floor of Congress.

Many members of the House Agriculture Committee who passed on the sugar quota had earlier taken a free fancy trip to the Dominican Republic at the dictator's expense, including Rep. and Mrs. W. R. Poage of Texas; Rep. and Mrs. Tom Abernathy of Mississippi, with their two children, Tommy and Gail; Rep. Pat Jennings of Virginia, Mrs. Coya Knutson of Minnesota, all Democrats; with Rep. and Mrs. Henry Dixon of Utah and Rep. and Mrs. Harold Luvre of South Dakota, Republicans.

Previously, John Foster Dulles' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, with their children, had spent three months as the guests of dictator Trujillo at the Hotel Jaragua, while Hinshaw sought employment with Trujillo. Mrs. Eisenhower's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, also put across some sugar deals with Trujillo as his partner.

And what has shocked Latin Americans as much as anything is the activity of Henry Holland, Ike's former Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin American affairs, who is supposed to encourage the good neighbor policy but who has been working actively for Trujillo's sugar quota.

The tide against dictators is running strong in Latin America. And nothing the United States has done recently has hurt us more in an area where Russia is making a lot of friends than our buddy-buddy relationship with dictator Trujillo.

Note — Secretary of State Rusk recently asked Congress to remove the extra Cuban sugar which Congress last summer voted to give Trujillo. It will be interesting to see Messrs. Ellender, Eastland, Cooley, and other Trujillo-admirers vote.

Poet With a Cause

Tibor Tollas, a 41 year old Hungarian, wrote his freedom poetry in prison. In the revolt of 1956, the young patriot rode through the streets reading his poetry and encouraging his people to free themselves of communism.

When the revolution failed Mr. Tollas was given a choice — either become a communist or be exterminated. But he fled to Vienna with his wife and two children. His wife is studying for a doctorate at the University there. The poet formed an organization of other young writers, poets, musicians and painters known as Nemzetor, the Hungarian Guardian for Freedom. The story of Hungary is spreading throughout the world wherever this dedicated group can find others who have been duped by communist promises.

Mr. Tollas is now in this country on a 2½ months tour in 275 cities: He is sponsored by the Coordinated Hungarian Relief, Inc. and the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Federation.

In the case of the young Hungarian patriot, "the pen is mightier than the sword" and the stirring poetry in the cause of freedom is stronger than the "shot heard 'round the world."

The Doctor's Mailbag

'Drafty' Column Blows Up Storm of Reader Comment

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

My mail suggests that I have raised quite a storm with my denial that drafts are harmful.

Most defenders of the drafty theory quote chapter and verse of a personal experience demonstrating the onset of an infection just after exposure to a gust of air. And there appears to be general agreement that a gust from an electric fan is the very worst of all gusts.

None of the draft defenders, however, attempts to explain why we are not all of us sick all of the time since it's impossible to go through any given 24-hour period without being exposed to at least a score of gusts.

From the opening and closing of the front and back doors or the windows. From a chink in a moving car or bus. From the ascent and descent of an elevator in its shaft. From wind currents as we turn a corner.

One of the wittier opponents of the draft theory writes of his brother and sister whom he classifies as "draft-dodgers." He describes them as always asking: "Where is that draft coming from?" Or as being constantly on the move to "get out of the draft."

Another tells of his wife, a music lover, who quit attending concerts because of those "awful drafts" in the Municipal Auditorium. And a wife complains that her husband, at a large public banquet, turned up his coat collar and wrapped a napkin tround his neck to defend himself against a series of drafts.

I don't know who invented the draft theory. Or how long it's been in existence. Or why it hangs on with such tenacity. I sounded off to my wife on the subject the other evening. She said I shouldn't be discouraged at its persistence.

"One day you'll waken and it will be gone" she assured me. "When I was a girl we were told that you'd get weak eyes if you didn't take off your rubbers when you got to school or came home. And who believes that now?"

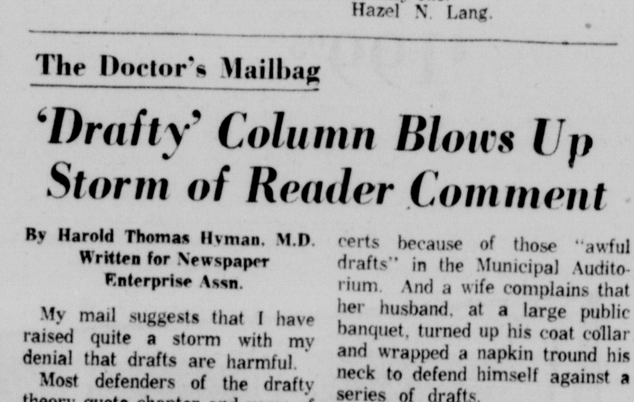

I don't know. Who does?

TOO MANY STITCHES

McLEAN, Ill. (AP) — A stitch in time saves nine, but to Timothy Spaulding, 5, it's more than enough when the stitches count to 11.

Nine days after he fell and cut his leg (left) on a tin can, he was scheduled to see his doctor and have seven stitches removed.

But before he got there, he fell on a wagon while playing and cut his leg (right). That called for four more stitches.

ANNIVERSARY—This is the first of five stamps marking the Civil War centennial which the Post Office will issue. This one, recalling the shelling of Fort Sumter, the opening of hostilities, will be released in April in Charleston, S.C., site of the fort.

Morton Looks Ahead

GOP Urged to Do Home Work Before Final Exams

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
DP&R Special Service

WASHINGTON—Republican National Chairman Thruston Morton is about the only GOP professional who is not preoccupied with an election almost four years away.

The Kentucky senator is in fact warning his fellow Republicans that the party had best do its homework before taking the final exams.

Homework, to Morton, means recapturing basic sources of the party's former strength — city halls, courthouses and statehouses.

Without winning more local elections this year, he says, Republicans cannot expect to take the Presidency in 1964.

But Morton is having a difficult time helping local leaders get set for 1961 and 1962 because of ex-Senator Barry Goldwater on the one hand and those of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the other to remold the party.

"We have," Morton tells Republicans, "current Republican positions on every conceivable problem that might come up."

These positions, formed during the Eisenhower-Nixon years, are middle-of-the-road positions and suit Morton just fine. He wants the party to concentrate more on hard political work and on more attractive candidates and less on trying to remake the GOP's basic philosophy.

The biggest test for the party this year will be in New Jersey's gubernatorial election. Most observers believe that if former Labor Secretary Stephen Mitchell wins the Republican nomination without much bloodshed then the party will go on to end the long Democratic rule at Trenton. However, the liberal Mitchell may have such a bitter fight with Republican conservatives for the nomination that even if he won his chances in the general election would be lessened considerably.

Morton is now attempting to ameliorate this explosive liberal-conservative tug-of-war.

Goldwater strums impressively on the theory that there is a great "silent vote" that will support "real" conservatives if the Republicans will only nominate them. He points to his own brilliant showing in Arizona. The last eight years have, Goldwater contends, seen the GOP move too far to the left.

But from New York State, where Rockefeller liberalism has been even more successful than Goldwater conservatism has in Arizona, State Chairman Judson Morhouse warns:

"If we (the GOP) are maneuvered from the progressive lane in the middle-of-the-road or veer voluntarily to the right shoulder, the Republican Party will be sidetracked by the people for another generation, as it was from 1932 to 1952."

Morton's role of seeking GOP unity, is, it is clear, not a great deal less difficult than Dag Hammarskjold's mission to win unity in The Congo.

Looking Backward...

Whatever happened to the family dinner hour?

Time was when the family dinner hour was almost sacred. No one missed it without serious reason. It was not interrupted for trivial cause. Each person had his place at the table and appeared clean and presentable. Grace was said. Father served, and Mother's was the first plate to be filled. Children learned to wait their turn, to pass food along, to say "please" and "thank you."

Today the diversions of modern life and the lack of space have combined to destroy this fine tradition in far too many homes. How can we bring it back?

A dining room as such is not essential if the occasion has precedence over any distractions. Even the plainest table assumes a touch of magic when covered by a cloth, set with loving care, and given the benefit of flowers.

Children love ritual and enjoy the security of formal family occasions. Given the chance, given the hour, given their role, they will respond with pleasure. And they'll learn to dine graciously with confidence.

Tigers Whip Southwest For Third Place In Regional

Morgan, Wiseman, Case Star As Bengals Finish Season With 18-8 Mark

Smith-Cotton Tigers closed out the 1960-61 basketball campaign on a winning note Friday night with an 87-71 victory over Kansas City Southwest for third place in the Raytown Class L Regional Tournament. The Bengals thus finished with a sparkling 18-8 season record, a magnificent achievement for the short band of Black and Gold who consistently met and conquered much taller competition throughout the year.

The Tigers were eliminated from the championship running Thursday night with a 74-68 loss to Kansas City Southeast, which met Raytown in Friday night's finale for the regional crown.

Tim Morgan, Mike Wiseman and Charlie Case, all seniors playing their last high school game, led a second half assault that overcame a one-point halftime deficit to give Sedalia the victory.

The Tigers trailed 45-44 at intermission, and went ahead in the third period, 61-59. The fast-breaking Bengals then iced the battle in the final period with a whopping 26 points while Southwest collected only 12.

Southwest took the lead in the first quarter, 26-22, by hitting 50 percent of its field shots before cooling off in the second period. The Tigers continued their fine shooting and pulled to within one point as the half ended. Kansas City scored a total of 28 points in the second half as the Tigers applied defensive pressure.

Wiseman led Sedalia scorers with 26 points, Case had 19 and Morgan added 17.

T. Davis topped Southwest with 26 points.

In Thursday night's game, Southeast's twin terrors—Larry Norris and Ken Wood—helped hand Smith-Cotton a 74-68 setback. Norris scored 32 points and Wood canned 25.

Southeast also threw an airtight defense on Morgan, limiting the sharpshooting guard to eight points on four fielders, his lowest production of the year.

With Morgan under wraps, the Tigers shifted their attack to Wiseman, who came through with 33 points. But Norris and Wood more than balanced Wiseman's efforts.

Some Say Thomas Needs More Work

NEW YORK (AP)—What's wrong with John Thomas?

The 20-year-old Boston University junior lost three successive duels with Russia's Valery Brumel and now won't get another chance at the 18-year-old Soviet high jumper until the summer season.

The majority opinion seems to be that Thomas needs more work.

"He is just getting back in serious training after practically quitting following the Olympics," said Thomas' coach, Ed Flanagan, Saturday.

"John looks to me like he needs more practice," opined Brumel before taking off for Moscow and a resumption of his school studies.

"Give him more tough competition," said Leonid Khomonkov, chief of the Russian AAU, who chaperoned Brumel and two other Soviet athletes during their 19-day stay in New York.

"I know I'm capable of doing better," said Thomas, who celebrated his 20th birthday Friday. "I also know Valery doesn't hold a whammy on me. No one is unbeatable."

Brumel and Thomas met three times—in the New York A. C., the National AAU and the Knights of Columbus meets.

Here is the scorecard:
NYAC—Brumel 7-3, Thomas 7-1.
AAU—Brumel 7-2, Thomas 7.
Knights of Columbus—Brumel 7-3½, Thomas 6-10.

The K. of C. meet Friday night in Madison Square Garden was the real shocker. It marked the first time in two years that Thomas had not cleared 7 feet in a major meet. Brumel's 7-3½ was an indoor record.

Four-and-Twenty Wins $145,100 Santa Anita

ARCARIA, Calif. (AP)—Four-and-Twenty of the odds-on favored Alberta Ranches entry made it a wire to wire triumph Saturday in the $145,100 Santa Anita Derby, holding off a stretch challenge by Ronnie's Ace in a rousing finish.

The remarkable Johnny Longden, at 54 chalking up his fifth victory in 20 tries in this classic for 3-year-olds, got Four-and-Twenty in by three-quarters of a length over the long shot Ronnie's Ace, while Flutterby, the other half of the feared Alberta twosome, came roaring in for third.

Llangollen Farm's Game finished a close fourth in the field of 14.

The time for the mile and one-eighth was 1:48 flat, second fastest time in the history of this event.

Rex C. Ellsworth's Olden Times, after a gallant bid throughout most of the mad dash around the track, faded and finished seventh, while a sentimental favorite, C. V. Whitney's Fun House, the lone filly in the cast, came in last.

The skies were still gloomy with a mistry fog as the field went to the post. Earlier it had rained.

But the track remained fast. Longden had the choice of the Alberta colts and took Four-and-Twenty.

Eddie Arcaro had the other colt, Flutterby, and almost upset the Longden calculations.

The winner paid $3.40, $3.40 and $2.40; Ronnie's Ace, with Alex Maese up, paid $12.40 and $12.80, and Flutterby, of course, paid $2.40 for show.

Bass Clef Captures Louisiana Derby

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Favored Bass Clef came from dead last to win the $51,700 Louisiana Derby at the New Orleans Fair Grounds by one length Saturday.

The chestnut 3-year-old gelding, owned by Mrs. V. E. Smith, covered the mile and one-eighth distance in 1:50 and 1-5.

Jockey Ronnie Baldwin guided Bass Clef around the outside to pull ahead of 40-1 shot Loyal Son at the wire.

Joe Cavegnano's King of Kentucky set the pace and finished another length behind.

Bass Clef, the favorite, paid $4.80, $3.80 and $2.80.

Loyal Son returned $29.20 and $13.40 while King of Kentucky paid $4.60.

TO GET CITATION — Mrs. and Mrs. W. Everett Bingaman, 513 Sunset, have recently returned from a vacation trip to Florida during which they enjoyed some deep sea fishing. Mrs. Bingaman is shown above with her prize catch of a 39-pound Wahoo which she entered in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament. Mr. and Mrs. Bingaman had as their fishing guide Capt. William DeMerritt on the fishing boat "Evelyn" and her catch was entered at the Garrison Bight, Key West. During their visit, when Mr. Bingaman suggested to "stretching" their Florida visit down to Key West, Mrs. Bingaman was at first reluctant in going to the Keys, but when "better fishing" was brought out and she being an ardent fishing woman the trip was on. Her reward was her outstanding catch for which she definitely will receive at least a citation. (Wil Cot photo)

Doug Sanders Keeps Lead Despite Wind

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A tricky wind failed to stop Doug Sanders Friday and the 27-year-old Ojai, Calif., professional stayed at the top after the third round of the $30,000 Greater New Orleans Invitational Golf Tournament.

Sanders had a three-under-par 69 and showed 68-65-69-202 for his 54-hole work.

But he had a new challenger in Gay Brewer, Jr., of Cincinnati, Ohio, whose 66 spun him into the runner-up spot. The 28-year-old Brewer hung up a 54-hole total of 72-65-77-204.

Young Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., tied with Sanders for the first - round lead, shot his third straight 68 and placed third at the end of three rounds at 204.

The three had the top echelons all to themselves, since the closest contender was at 209. Howie Johnson of Cog Hill, Ill., shot a 68 and his work for the three days produced 70-71-68-209.

Then came three others at 210, headed by South Africa's Gary Player and a five-man group at 211, including Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., whose 66 matched the best card turned in Saturday.

Tournament favorite Arnold Palmer of Miami matched par 72 over the 6,596-yard City Park No. 1 course and joined a group of nine at 213.

The field was trimmed to the low 61 pros and 10 amateurs after play Saturday for Sunday's final 18-hole round.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

ACTIVITY at the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club will start picking up within a short time, especially in the trap shooting sport. Already one "unofficial" shoot was held last Wednesday night in a team match with the Bob White Gun Club Inc., and was won by the local team.

The Sedalia Club is becoming one of the best talked of in the Central part of Missouri and members of the trap shooting group are starting to dream of a sanctioned State Championship shoot at the local range. This however, cannot come true until additional improvements are made.

To conduct a state sanctioned shoot, it is necessary for the club to have four electric traps. The club at present has two such traps and it is the hope the other two will be added this year. With the activity on the firing line and with the league shoots conducted last season which resulted in the present two traps being paid for, certainly the addition will not handicap the club and they can be paid for out of the shoot profits.

To make the club more attractive, and to make more room for members, an addition is to be built on the present club house. It is to be at least 24 by 32 feet and might possibly be increased to forty feet. This addition will add much to the club facilities.

The preset club house was built by the members who contributed their labor under the direction of Chris Roose, one of the founders of the Rod and Gun Club. Actually, I think it is a tribute to Roose in having to enlarge the club house as the club has definitely become a successful operation.

Many members have a dream of sometime in the future, in fact in the not too distant future, to have a beautiful club house erected on the property for social events. The present building will then be used exclusively for sports activities.

For certain, the manner in which the organization is handling its activities and finances, there is little doubt in the minds of many that this club will never "go under" now. It is well on its feet and promises to be one of the most outstanding rod and gun club organizations in the state.

MORE than 30 Soap Box Derby sponsors have turned in their checks to sponsor some boy in the Sedalia Jaycees first derby run this summer. There are more than 25 others who have indicated they'll sponsor a boy, bring to the total 50 boys about ready to start to work on their little racers.

Several youngsters have already begun their mechanical work in building a racing machine. There are others who are just "itching" to get the chance to build one, but they must wait until a sponsor comes along to put them in business.

Sedalia is most fortunate in being chartered as one of three cities in Missouri to hold such races. Now the problem is up to be solved for the track—Broadway between Barrett and Limit has been turned down by the State Highway Department.

But this isn't going to stop the Jaycees. They have been looking and looking and have several sites in mind where the races can be run but there will be a lot of work to be done to get them in shape.

These Soap Box Derby races will draw into Sedalia thousands of people which in turn will benefit all Sedalians—especially the merchants and monies derived from the spending of these racing fans will "rub-off" along the line on just about every local worker.

Cooperation of all Sedalia is being sought to make this project a success, and few if any person called upon so far have refused to agree to help out in some way.

The 1961 Racing program is bound to be a success.

Wichita Rocks North Texas For Fifth Place

DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Wichita alternately used a fast break and a stall to stretch an eight point halftime lead into an easy 91-75 basketball victory over North Texas State Saturday.

The season finale put Wichita in fifth place in the Missouri Valley Conference with a 6-6 record. The Eagles remained in the cellar at 1-11.

The Eagles kept the first half close, claiming a 25-24 lead with six minutes to go in the first half but a flurry of fouls dropped them behind 42-34 at intermission.

The Wheatshockers used a fast break to open up a 15-point lead early in the second period. When the Eagles closed the gap to 69-59 with 8 minutes left, Wichita started a modified stall. A North Texas full-court press led to repeated fouls and the Shockers pulled ahead steadily with the help of eight free throws.

Ron Heller of Wichita led the scoring with 22 points.

St. Louis Halts Bradley's Bid For Part Of Title

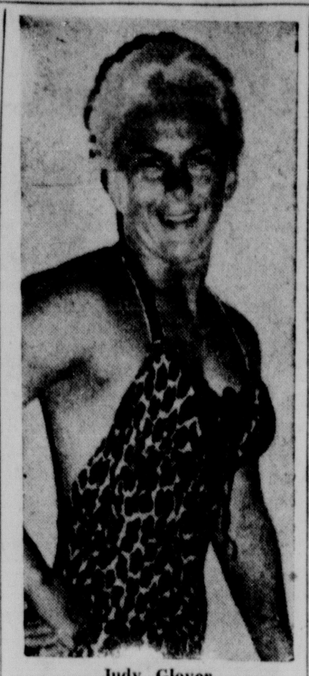

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—St. Louis University broke three ties within the final five minutes and ruined fourth-ranked Bradley's bid for a Missouri Valley Conference title deadlock, 70-63, in a nationally televised game Saturday.

Bradley thus finished the MVC race with a 93 record, giving already finished Cincinnati 10-2 the clear-cut conference championship and a berth in the NCAA tourney. The score was tied at 54-54, 57-57 and 59-59 before St. Louis broke away.

Although losing this pressure game, Bradley's Braves are tabbed to enter the National Invitational Tourney with a final overall record of 21-5.

St. Louis' Billikens, earlier defeated by Bradley 69-54 at St. Louis, threw a tight man-to-man defense against the Braves. It didn't prevent All-America Chet Walker from scoring the game's high of 26 points, but it did force the Braves into frequent errors.

The Billikens, who finished with a 7-5 MVC record for a third place tie with Drake, were paced by Tom Kieffer with 20 points.

Medics Reach Top As Team Wrestlers

You don't need to see their faces to know the Masked Medics are thoroughly seasoned wrestling professionals. They work smoothly as a team and, since entering the Mo-Kan area several months ago, have worked their way to the top as the No. 1 duo in the region.

But Tuesday night at Convention Hall each will have to go it alone, with no help from the other. The secret of their team success has been the ability to spell one another at just the right time, one of them always being fresh and ready to go while both members of the opposition are tiring.

Whether they can maintain the steady qualities that have assured their team success will be tested by two of the roughest and toughest pros in the business.

Lee Henning, at 46 considered one of the oldest active wrestlers in the nation, can still go full speed. He has staying power that men 25 years his junior must envy. Lee is slated to meet one of the Medics in one-half the double main event. Stan Stasiak, a 6-5, 255-pounder, will challenge the other. It figures to be a busy evening for the Medics since they are going it as singles against two hard hitters.

There'll be women's activity, too. Millie Stafford and Judy Glover will challenge Lorraine Johnson and Jessica Rogers. Stafford has many of the attributes of a good male heavyweight—she's strong, fast and can take it. But so can Johnson and the others. There should be some lively action when the gals collide.

Pepper Perez, seeking to establish himself solidly on the mat ladder in this section, will meet sneaky Taro Myaki in the 8:15 opener.

23 World Records Are Approved

LONDON (AP)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation Saturday officially approved 23 world records and six record-equaling performances made before, during and after the Rome Olympics last summer.

Four of the world records and four of the tying marks were turned in during the Olympics.

The United States, led by Olmypic stars Wilma Rudolph and Otis Davis, figured in eight world records and four record-tying feats.

Miss Rudolph, a triple gold medallist at Rome, was credited with a world record of 22.9 seconds for 200 meters set at Corpus Christi, Tex., July 9, 1960; a record-tying 11.3 seconds for the 100 meters at Rome, and a share of the record :44.4 established by the USA's winning 400-meter relay team at Rome. The Tennessee State star won the 100 and 200 gold medals in addition to the relay first at Rome.

Davis, who had been running competitively less than three years, won the Olympic 400-meter run in world record time of :44.9, and anchored the Olympic champion 1600-meter relay team to a world record of 3:02.2. He also ran a leg on the American mile relay team which set a world record of 3:05.6 at Walnut, Calif., Aug. 13, 1960, a couple of weeks before the Olympic track competition. Davis is from the University of Oregon.

Among the other outstanding world records approved were Australian Herb Elliott's 3:56.6 for 1500 meters; American Ralph Boston's broad jump of 26 feet, 11¼ inches and American Bill Nieder's shot put of 65 feet, 10 inches. Boston is from Tennessee State. Nieder is a Kansas U. product.

AMA Sanctions Five Events For Iron Horsemen

The American Motorcycle Association has sanctioned five events this year for the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club of Sedalia. Two of the events will be "hill climbs" which will be for spectators. The other three events will be for road bikes and will be for the enjoyment of the riders.

The first ride in the Sedalia area will be a "poker run" April 16, which will be for road bikes. A 100 mile tour is planned for this date and riders will be coming in from all over the state of Missouri.

June 11 is the date set for the first "hill climb" in Sedalia. This is the first event of this type to be held in Sedalia for many years because only A.M.A Clubs can apply for sanction for amateur climbs. Riders are anxiously awaiting this climb for it may be like the oldster said when he looked down this hill, "Boys, they just ain't made a motorcycle yet that can climb this one."

New Senators Slate Intra-Squad Game

PROMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dick Donovan, Tom Sturdivant, Ray Semporch and Johnny Klippstein will divide the pitching assignments Sunday as the Washington Senators play their first intra-squad game.

Manager Mickey Vernon and his coaches will be trying to get a line on the many untried players who stocked the new Washington franchise. The game is tentatively set for five innings.

League Expansion Dashes Talk Of Retiring

Musial, In '61 Spring Training, Looks Forward To 1962 Season

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Any thoughts Stan Musial might have had about retiring were dashed by the National League's decision to expand to ten clubs for 1962.

The St. Louis Cardinals' star, who laughingly refers to himself as a "young old warrior," said Saturday he not only is looking forward to another productive season in 1961 but is hopeful of extending his brilliant career at least through 1962.

"I'm setting my sights on 1962 for Houston and New York," Stan said during a workout break at Al Lang field. "Those are my two favorite towns. I always loved to hit in New York and I'm looking forward to playing in Houston."

It had been felt that Musial, who turned 40 last November, would call it a career at the end of this campaign, his 19th with the same club. There seemed little reason for Stan (The Man) to go on. He already possesses virtually every National League lifetime batting record. He has won seven batting crowns and three most valuable player awards. He is happily married, with four children, is independently wealthy and a respected member of his community.

"I still have the desire to play," he explained. "I still get a thrill every day I put on a uniform. Some people can't understand it but I honestly get a kick out of playing. They say everybody has to have some form of relaxation. Some get it by playing golf, by reading, or by going to the movies. I relax when I'm playing ball.

"I've looked forward to this Spring training season as much as in any previous spring. Each training season is new and different. I expect to have a good year. As long as I can help the team, I'll play. When the time comes that I feel I'm a detriment to the club, I'll quit."

Two years ago, it appeared that Musial was all through when he dropped below .300 for the first time, hitting only .255. He rebounded last year with a strong .275, driving in 63 runs on only 91 hits. With a true craftsman's pride, Stan is confident he can reach .300 again.

"If I had any doubts about myself, I'd have quit last year. Not too many had as much confidence in me as I did. Even when I was far down in the low .200's, I never lost confidence. I knew I could still hit."

The low point of Musial's career came last May when he was benched because of a .230 batting average. Stan fidgeted on the bench for a month.

"That was when the thought of quitting came to my mind," he said, "but I was never really serious about it. It's like a bad dream now. I don't even like to talk about it."

Musial returned to the lineup in late June and for more than a month slugged away at a .500 pace, lifting his average over the .300 mark.

Musial has had more than his share of thrills but he has one great ambition left. He wants to better Hans Wagner's record of most hits in a career by a National League player. Stan has 3,294, only 136 short of the flying Dutchman's 3,430. He already owns the most doubles, long hits, extra bases and total bases.

Kansas State Clinches Tie For Title

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State's seventh-ranked Wildcats clinched a share of the Big Eight Conference basketball title Saturday night by getting hot in the second half for a 75-56 victory over Nebraska.

Larry Comley, all-conference ace, led the surge that overcame a brief Nebraska lead and sent K-State to an 11-3 loop record and 20-4 for the season. Nebraska stands 4-9 and 10-13.

Both teams sank only 24 per cent of their field shots in the cold first half as Nebraska stayed close. Trailing 32-28 a tintermission, the Huskers moved ahead at 35-34 after three minutes of the second period.

Cedric Price hit a free throw, then had a three-point play to send the Wildcats off and running. Comley hit two straight jump shots and added another shortly afterward. K-State steadily pulled away to a 68-49 margin with 3:22 left.

Price made 22 points and Comley got 21. Rex Swett topped Nebraska with 20.

K-State's Warren Brown came off the bench and turned in a sparkling job of floor play, scoring four points.

Kansas State finished with 30 per cent on its field shooting, sinking 24 of 79, while Nebraska hit 16 of 52 for 31 per cent.

Kansas State out-rebounded Nebraska 65-48.

Lillis And Kearney Win Basketball Titles

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Lillis of Kansas City won the Missouri high school Class M basketball championship Saturday night, beating Thayer 47-41.

Kearney took the Class S title with a 66-48 victory over Everton.

Advance placed third in Class M beating Paris 77-71, and Doe Run was third in Class S with an overtime 68-67 win over Gilman City.

Thayer led until a minute and 10 seconds before halftime when Lillis took a 23-21 lead and in the second half stayed in control.

Jim Audley was high scorer for Lillis with 15 points and Joe Franz made 14 for Thayer.

Junior Ralph Tapp scored 32 points to pace Kearney, 13 of them in the final quarter when Everton made a bid for a comeback. Everton had fought within two points. Tapp sank a fantastic 13 of 14 shots from the floor.

Athletics' Pitchers Show Sharp Control

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Remarkably good control was exhibited by four of the six pitchers who worked in the Kansas City Athletics' first intra-squad game Saturday. The skirmish was won by the Amberjacks, 2-0 over the Barracudas.

Don Larsen and Ed Danforth pitched the first six innings for the winners and gave up only two hits and no walks. Norm Bass and Bob Hartman, pitching for the Barracudas, did not give up a hit or a walk through the first six innings.

The game was a scoreless tie until the ninth when the Amberjacks scored against Dave Wickersham, a rookie right-hander. Consecutive doubles by Lou Klimchock and Norm Siebern accounted for one run. Siebern later scored on a sacrifice fly.

Patterson Is Third Best Puncher Ever

MIAMI BEACH — (NEA)—Although not especially noted as a puncher, Floyd Patterson, who defends his title against Ingemar Johansson in Miami Beach March 13, still ranks third among the heavyweight champions dating back to John L. Sullivan.

Patterson's percentage is .710 in 38 fights, behind only Rocky Marciano (.877) and Joe Louis (.761.)

Johansson ranks eighth among the all-time heavyweight sluggers, with a kayo percentage of .608. He stands ahead of such historic hitters as John L. Sullivan and Jack Johnson.

US Ice Hockey Team Loses Second Straight

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The punchless United States ice hockey team, defending titlists, lost its second straight game in the world championship Saturday a 4-1 setback by Czechoslovakia.

The Czechs, who won their second in row, scored one goal in each of the first two periods and added two more in the finals. The Americans, who bowed to Russia 13-2 in the opener Thursday, scored their lone goal in the third period.

BULLETIN

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Brawling Gene Fullmer, applying relentless pressure throughout a savage 15-round blood bath, retained his middleweight boxing title Saturday night with a unanimous decision over five-time champion Ray Robinson.

The loss may well mean the end of the line for 40-year-old Sugar Ray, perhaps the greatest boxer of his day.

This was the key match in their series, which until Saturday night stood at a win apiece and a draw.

One judge scored it 70-60 for Fullmer, another 70-67 for the champion, and Referee Frank Carter 70-66 for Fullmer.

There were no knockdowns. Fullmer, a perpetual motion puncher, made the biggest round the third—when he pinned Robinson to the ropes and mauled him mercilessly—even after the bell, which neither fighter heard.

Each fighter weighed 159¾, barely under the 169-pound limit for the nationally televised bout at the Las Vegas Convention Hall. Fullmer, of West Jordan, Utah, entered the ring an 8-5 favorite over Robinson.

Three Die, Six Injured In Wreck Near Krakow, Mo.

KRAKOW, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed late Saturday in a 2-car collision on rain-slick M47 a half mile north of Krakow. Six persons were injured, at least one seriously. A third car slid into the wreckage but its two occupants escaped injury.

Killed were Larry Holtgrieve, 19, and Richard Ruether, 17, both of Washington, Mo., and Louis Vitt, 13, of Union, Mo.

The accident occurred about half way between Washington and Union at 4:45 p.m. The Vitt boy was in a car enroute to a Little League Catholic Conference basketball game. It was driven by Ralph Clark, 45, of Union.

Clark, his wife Yolanda, 40, and three other boys from Union were injured and remained at St. Francis Hospital in Washington. The three boys are their son, Dennis Clark, 12, Jim Lenau, 13, and Paul Schroeder, 12.

A hospital spokesman said it appeared that none were in serious condition.

Holtgrieve and Ruether were passengers in a car driven by 21-year-old Jerome Eckelkamp of Washington. The Highway Patrol said Eckelkamp's car went out of control and slid sideways into the path of the Clark car. Eckelkamp was in serious condition at St. Francis.

Racial Strife Slows Mixing In Prison

FOLSOM PRISON, Calif. (AP)—A committee of convicts and Folsom Warden Robert A. Heinze agreed to limited integration of dining rooms Saturday in a move to end two days of racial strife at the maximum security prison.

The two-hour meeting, requested by the inmates, came in the wake of two racial flareups attributed to activities of the Negro Muslin cult which preaches black supremacy.

Ten inmates were injured Friday night in a racial flareup which had to be broken up by warning shots. Six Negroes and four whites were hurt, none critically, by flying mess trays and ricocheting bullets.

The trouble resumed Saturday morning with demonstrations in both prison mess halls, one of which was halted by a warning shot from a guard's revolver.

The warden then ordered segregated seating in the mess halls for the noon meal. The 3,000 inmates were fed without incident.

The usual baseball game and movie went ahead without any trouble after lunch.

The group of four Negroes and six whites which met with Heinze agreed that an area be set aside for integrated dining in each mess hall, but other sections be set aside for prisoners who wish to follow their custom of separate eating.

The agreement was broadcast by the prison's loudspeaker system.

Earlier, Heinze told a reporter, "I think we've got it pretty well controlled, but you can't tell about these things."

The initial outbreak was attributed by prison officials to activities of the black-supremacy Muslin cult.

"This has got beyond the Muslin point," Heinze said.

"Some of these colored people are trying to take over. We are now seating them to our liking, not theirs."

Official prison policy is against segregation, but inmates traditionally have seated themselves in separate racial groups in the mess hall.

There are 3,000 inmates at Folsom.

Violent Storm Hits Chicago, Injuring 12

CHICAGO (AP)—A violent storm struck Chicago's South Side Saturday, injuring at least 12 persons.

An eyewitness called it a tornado, but the Weather Bureau said it was a violent thunderstorm.

The Chicago Fire Department declared the densely populated section a disaster area and rushed in heavy equipment. There were no reports of fires but gas line breaks were reported to the Gresham police station.

The injured were admitted to the Jackson Park Hospital, where some were reported to be in serious condition.

Officer William Kennedy at the Gresham station said he had dispatched an ambulance to remove an injured man from a rooftop. He said autos parked in front of the station had been tossed across the street by the violent winds.

"It was a twister," he said, "and went right down Green Street past the station."

Sgt. Kitcher Greenlee of the nearby Grand Crossing police station said the wind gusts picked up a motorcycle and flung it 25 feet.

A display case toppled in a supermarket, injuring two shoppers.

Light Voter Turnout Expected Tuesday In St. Louis Primary

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One of the lightest voter turnouts in years is expected for the St. Louis primary election Tuesday. Mayor Raymond R. Tucker is favored to win renomination.

Harry Leitz, chief clerk of the Board of Election Commissioners, estimated 75,000 to 80,000 persons will vote. That would be the second lowest total since woman's suffrage went into effect 40 years ago.

Tucker is opposed for the Democratic nomination by Democratic National Committeeman Mark R. Holloran. The mayor, seeking a third term, has been endorsed by the regular Democratic organizations in 22 of the city's 28 wards.

Auto dealer Ben H. Lindenbusch is unopposed for the Republican nomination for mayor.

The candidates for aldermen in the 14 odd-numbered wards also will be selected.

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—Four business and professional men were honored Saturday night as outstanding young Missourians by the Missouri Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They were given distinguished service awards at a banquet at which Lt. Gov. Hilary Bush was the principal speaker.

The four are Louis Fiquet Jr., St. Joseph, representing cities over 50,000 population; Clarence Lee Sherrill, Cape Girardeau, cities between 15,000 and 50,000; Charles R. Stribling III, Mexico, cities between 5,000 and 15,000, and Dr. Robert L. Magee, Eldorado Springs, cities under 5,000.

Turner L. Vemar, Columbia, was honored as the state's outstanding young farmer of the year. Vemar, 30, who has a farming operation of 1,180 acres, received a trophy and a $100 savings bond.

Earlier in the day Mrs. Carolyn M. Peterson, Jackson, was honored as the "Young Woman of the Year" by the Missouri Jaycee wives organization.

Fiquet, an insurance man, was cited for activities in his church, civic affairs, Boy Scouts, politics and the United Fund. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

Stribling, a member of the staff at the Missouri Military Academy, is serving his second term as president of the Mexico Chamber of Commerce. He served as Missouri delegate to the White House Conference on Children and Youth. Under his leadership the Eagle, the academy's newspaper, has won for nearly a decade the top awards from all three national scholastic press contests.

Dr. Magee, a physician, has carried on many duties connected with better health for the community around Eldorado Springs, is active in civic affairs and has made available to the community a modern clinical center with the construction of a new building of which he is the co-owner.

Kenneth Stock, Levasy, was honored as runner-up and Gene E. Willis, Millersville, for third place in the farm contest.

8 Hurt As Man Fires Through Tavern Window

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An enraged man fired a burst of eight shots through a front window of a tavern in suburban Cool Valley early Saturday, injuring eight persons.

Francis Walter Hemberger, Jr., 22, was disarmed and handcuffed by Patrolman Herbert Lonny who happened by and found about 15 persons, one brandishing a tire tool, threatening Hemberger just outside the tavern.

Seriously wounded were Donald Graff, 23, Glenn A. Yoakum, 23, and Mrs. Annabelle McCarty, 42. Five others, several struck by flying glass particles, were released after hospital treatment.

Taken from Hemberger, a tuckpointer, was a 22-caliber semiautomatic rifle. Police said it fired in a burst, either because it had been tampered with or was defective.

"I thought I was only going to fire one shot," Hemberger said. "I only intended to shoot Graff."

Police said Hemberger told them Graff, a truck driver, had bullied him and had taken $1 from him in the tavern. As the shots shattered the window, shouting and screaming men and women dived to the floor. Officer Lonny had to protect Hemberger from the group that gathered outside moments later.

"When I entered the tavern," Lonny said, "people were still screaming. All I could see was people with blood on them, some running around and others sitting numbly at the bar and tables."

Smith, who recently accepted the post of committee chairman, and explained that Smith had not been briefed on the matter on such short notice. Naugel recommended that as only four members of the committee, which did not constitute a quorum, the matter be shelved and taken up at a later meeting, in order for all or most of the committee members to become more familiar with the problem.

The matter of the traffic light at Broadway and Limit was brought up. Hunter said it was his understanding that the green light for westbound traffic was supposed to be on at the same time the left turn arrow for South Highway 65 traffic was on.

Mayor Silverman and the traffic commitee members, along with Hunter, agreed that the lights should be changed to this system, to speed up westbound traffic. It was brought out that the line of communication had been broken some place or the light would have already been changed. The mayor stated the matter would be taken care of at an upcoming council meeting.

The Proteus prepared to receive the first of her family of missile submarines. The Patrick Henry is expected to moor alongside within the next few days to exchange crews after a 60-day patrol. Ninety members of a relief crew for the submarine flew in from the United States earlier Saturday.

First Spring Hats Create Furor In Sedalia's Shops

It's an occasion when the first spring hats begin to arrive in the store — any store where ladies' hats are sold, for everything stops.

A better tonic than sulphur and molasses—gayer than the singing of the birds—as colorful as the early tulips — as hilarious as a comedy.

As soon as the huge box is brought into the store everybody drops everything and gathers around.

What happens if someone has a customer? Well, the customer joins the group. And really, it doesn't need to be just hats, it could be dresses, or suits, coats or purses, or even night gowns, and the first urge of every woman is to try everything on. One woman was floating around in a new nightgown when a sedate customer came in and gave her one of her most embarrassing moments.

This is a hat year—and it's due to the fact that the lovely first lady, Jackie Kennedy, wears hats, and thus starts the trend of American women again toward hats.

Whether you like hats or not the big box is spring magic. Somebody rips it open and one by one out come the hats, each wrapped in tissue paper.

It's a color story this season, with lilac first choice, and pink, in all shades, a close second. Colors of the citrus fruits, lime, lemon, and orange, beautiful blues from very light to navy, beige and cinnamon, lots of white, and of course black and black and white.

"Isn't this precious," exclaimed one of the women as she looked at a hat covered with roses, each a different color, and each as fragile and beautifully shaded as the roses in a June garden.

"How do you like this?" queried a young girl as she turned to show her co-workers how she looked in a small white straw with a single white rose.

"It doesn't look as good as the other one," someone commented —but the other one was snapped up quickly by the first customer who came in the minute she laid it down when they were opening a box a few days before.

"I want this patent leather," said one of the girls. "Won't it be darling with black patent bag and shoes?"

"It doesn't look good on you," someone said frankly.

"Why doesn't it?" asked someone else. "I think it does."

"Not from the back, it doesn't," and the short hair cut in the back just wasn't the thing for that little hat, it will take more hair and some soft curls.

"How about this?" she asked as she tried on a large typical sailor boy hat of beige straw with cinnamon trim.

"And how about this?" asked someone else, as she put on one of the very deep bucket shaped hats of shiny black straw that dropped down over her face and entirely hid her hair.

Everybody laughed. It was a pretty hat for the right person, a person who had plenty of hair.

And so on and on it went, little hats covered entirely of flowers, and flower hats, too, of bonnet shapes or with very deep crowns, big hats covered with roses, big and little hats in various smooth straws of all colors, trimmed with flowers or ribbons and bows, and little ones with veils. Hats with high crowns, hats like the Gay 90's sailor, of rough and shiny straw—hats, hats, hats. And what was that, "Every career woman should be seen at least once during the day wearing a hat to be well dressed." It's time to pick your Easter bonnet from one of the hundreds that Sedalia stores are offering.

The boxes hold many other joys of spring, too.

"How much is that?" asks the customer who just happened to be lucky enough to get there when the box was opened.

It was a lovely black eyelet in a larger size.

"How much are these?" questioned the young girl in the store as the dresses in luscious colors of checked gingham or other materials with sweaters of matching shades and designs of the same material as the dresses, came out of one of the boxes.

Nobody can even wait for the invoice to find out what the prices are, they want to know how much everything costs the first thing.

"Yes, indeed," said one of the women in the store, as she unpacked some of the shirtwaist dresses in many beautiful colors. "This year is certainly a color story. Hot pink—light blue, lovely pastels, plains and prints, all kinds of materials. Colors are always becoming to women of any age," she continued, "and this year everybody should try colors."

"This looks like Mary Simpson," somebody said, holding up a jacket dress of cinnamon color and beige of linen knit.

"Yes, it does," replied someone else, and this plain little straw to go with it.

"It is bad to be typed like that," commented one of the saleswomen. "Mary should try something different. Always beige or shades of brown and the same styles."

"That's right," said somebody else. "Remember how hard we worked to get Mrs. Williams to try that blue dress on. 'I never wear blue,' she said, but we argued her into trying it on and then taking it home and trying it on at home. When she put it on to show her husband he said: 'Well, at last you've got a new dress.' The others had been so similar and of the same color that he didn't even know she had bought new ones."

"You never know what a dress is going to do for you until you try it on," said one of the women who had slipped on a lovely jacket suit so popular this year, that looked like gray wool tweed but was really all cotton.

"You can say that again, Beth," remarked one of her co-workers, "that dress is not for you—you need color."

"The short waist length jacket is good for you, though," said another girl.

By this time the young girl in the store had tried on a white cotton with full skirt, wide belt, and lace trimmed waist.

"Sweet girl graduate dresses," said one of the women, "and we have scads of them this year. You would never believe that that dress is a drip dry cotton."

"You can't tell materials any more," another woman said, "you have to read the hang tags of the manufacturer to tell whether it's

From the spring fashions at Burton's, Mrs. Ronnie Hoppes, left, and Miss Jackie Wilson, model two very lovely costumes for the Easter parade. Mrs. Hoppes is wearing a black and white checked sleeveless sheath of 100 percent cotton. It's cropped jacket has a flattering white collar. She wears her little pill box hat of black silk way back on her head in the 1961 manner. Miss Wilson is wearing figure intrigue in a delightfully imaginative design printed on 100 percent acetate. The skirt is very full with little flat pleats at the waist. With it she wears a tiny petal hat in shades of green, one of the many hues in her dress. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Mrs. C. R. Roberts, in a lovely spring fashion, models for Penney's an acetate acele gold print dress, which accents the three quarter length sleeves and skirt with all around unpressed pleats. Her large brim fine Swiss straw braid hat with velvet trim reveals every fashion detail of spring. The slim black patent shoes with the tall thin heel, and the handsome buckle adds just the right note of flattery. The purse of black patent and crisp white gloves gives the final touch to the ensemble. (Democrat-Capital photo)

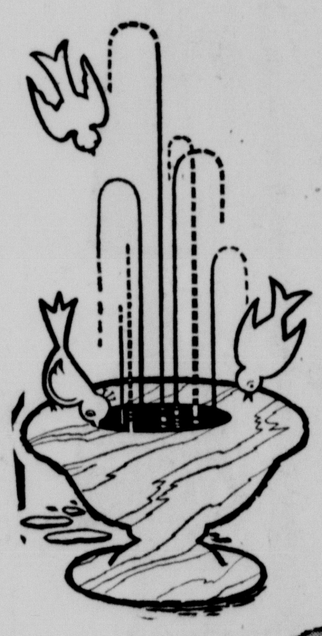

Mrs. Jack Shoemaker, right, modeling for Lockett's Ladies Shop, is shown with her two children, Sally, left, and Jim, center, whose clothes are from Lockett's Lad and Lassie Shop. Mrs. Shoemaker is wearing a navy suit with short jacket and pencil slim skirt. The jacket is designed with three-quarter length sleeves, little bows down the front for closing and a large white linen collar. With it she wears short white gloves and a white hat of rough white straw, in which are woven touches of red, and veil with red and white dots. Sally's coat is of navy blue with large pearl buttons down the front and at either side. The coat has white collar and cuffs and her little white sailor hat of straw, has navy trim that forms streamers in the back. Her gloves and purse are white. Jim has on a navy blue coat which he is wearing with trousers of gray material with flecks. His tie is also gray and navy. Democrat-Capital photo)

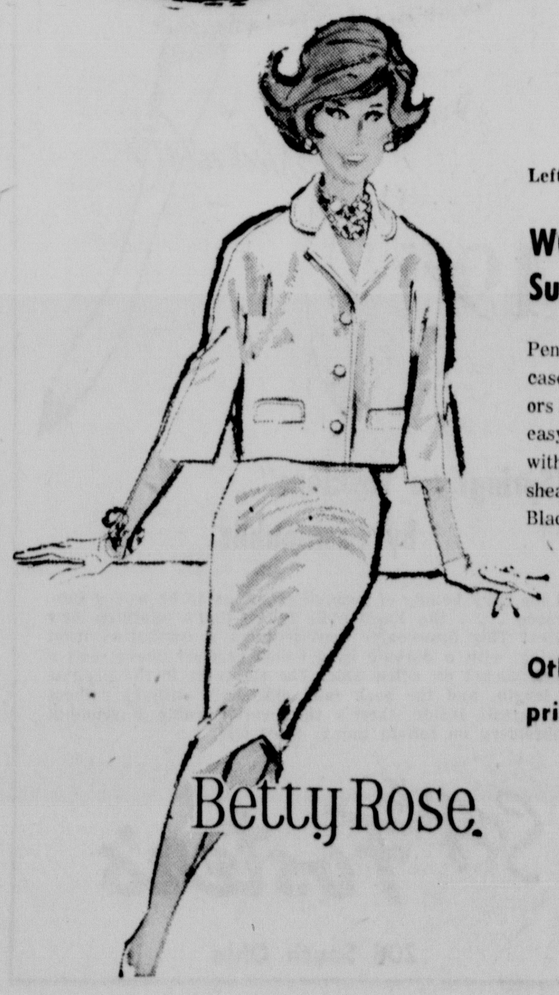

From Montgomery Wards, Mrs. Bill Bunn, left, and Mrs. Dave Miller, model delightful fashions of the spring season. Mrs. Bunn has chosen a cotton knit sheath dress in a beautiful lilac shade. The jewel neckline is accentuated by two strand pearl beads. With this she wears a hat of lilac and purple flowers, a topper of lilac jersey knit, black patent pumps and bag. White gloves complete her outfit. Mrs. Miller is wearing a two piece outfit of aqua cupuoni and cotton and a white cloche hat of milan straw trimmed with dainty veiling and flowers. Her matching shoes and bag are of black patent. Short white nylon gloves compliment her Easter outfit. (Democrat-Capital photo)

The Easy Way

This Family Is Well Sold On Shopping Local Stores

By HAZEL LANG

"You sure are sold on Sedalia stores, Sally," said Marge, "and I can see why. I'm sure glad you wrote for me to come visit you and do my Easter shopping here."

"When you have a lot of children you have to do it the easy way," replied Sally, "and this is it. Easter buying is a problem but it's fun when you have so many things to select from—look at this diaper set—can't you just see my litlte Pam in that?"

The diaper set for a very tiny girl had a dress with a full yellow skirt around which was an embroidered border. The white organdy pinafore tied with a big fluffy bow in the back.

But Marge wasn't interested in diaper sets for little girls. Her baby was a boy. She had moved over to another counter to look at the little white Eton suit for the wee boy. There was a white cap to go with it and a little white shirt.

"Look, Sally," squealed Marge, "even a teeney-weeney bow tie for this shirt. Can't you just see my little Danny in this Easter morning."

While Marge and Sally were looking over little things for their babies, the other children were doing their own looking.

Five-year-old Debbie had found a little white tailored straw hat which turned up sassily and was trimmed with navy, which just set off the little navy fitted coat she had tried on. The coat had a little lace edged white jabot that gave a feminine touch beneath the buttoned up collar. It had navy and white buttons and, of course, the thing that every little girl from two-years-old on up, must have for her Easter outfit, Debbie had found — little white gloves.

Sally wasn't so sure about the navy coat—she was looking over the little white topper that said "hand washable," and there was a full length coat in brown and white check that caught her eye, too.

Jean was admiring herself in a white blazer which would be very lovely, she thought, with a white pleated skirt. The blazer came in navy, too, and she couldn't decide which would be the prettiest. She hung up the blazer and wandered down to the dress rack. She already had her Easter dress of green and white print of polished cotton, with its self petticoat of white net trimmed in two tiny rows of solid green, the color of the sash of the dress.

Jean loved sashes and as she stood looking over the dresses for 12 year olds, her size, she noticed that they came in a variety of materials and many of them had sashes, some tied in the back, some in the front. There was a white pique with a long stemmed rose in front on the skirt and wide rick-rack trim around the bottom of the skirt in rose shade to match the rose and the sash was of green and rose, just the color of the rose on the skirt.

"Why there are other flowers, too, an iris in lavender and a crocus in yellow," Jean said out loud to nobody in particular.

The dresses were Easter egg colors, and Jean, who likes frilly things held up a lovely little dacron in lavender with a cummerbund in darker shade. The dress had bands of lavender lace and a little white rose at the waist.

Jean had to try it on along with the little white hat that had white flowers around the turned up brim and a band of lavender ribbon that formed streamers down the back.

Then there was the two-piece cotton with full skirt and clever detailing with lace down the front. This particular dress was yellow with a wide band of floral embroidery in yellow and green on white. And the blue dress, lace edged, with three pockets in front, and white daisies each with a blue pompons as the centers.

Sally was still looking at things for her baby, the tiny pink and white checked bikini bathing suit, brought smiles to bot hher face and Marge's and then they both laughed over the diminutive panty and bra set of white lace for the very littlest girl. There were lace trimmed white socks, too.

Debbie liked the little sleeveless dress of pink dacron, with bertha collar which was lace edged. It's belt tied in a bow in front and it had a little self petticoat. After all, she had found her Easter bonnet. It was a half hat of pink flowers and net ruffles, and the matching bag was a miniature closed parasol.

She had liked the 100 per cent cotton of blue with white organdy completely covering it. It had bands of faggoting and lace and, of course, a sash. There were ginghams and prints in all colors, too. She had tried on dozens of little hats in all kinds of straw, some fancy with flowers, some sailor style, some Breton's with streamers down the back. And the many, many bouffant petticoats intrigued her.

But, ten-year-old Johnny was not to be left out. He liked hats, too. There were very classy little hats in straw that came in many colors, gray, green, tan, white, navy, and he thought he was very handsome in them all.

Should he have a navy hat to go with his new navy blazer with the red and gold emblem, or gray to match his new trousers? He would like a white jacket in addition to the blazer, he thought. He would look nifty in a white jacket with navy trousers — and would that call for a white hat, or could he get a navy hat to wear with both—if he could have both.

As they started to leave the store Sally stopped to look at the tennis dresses, with the little pleated skirts, the tops and the shorts that are interchangeable. They are brand new. The coordinated sports wear, the Poncho type with the top worn out over the slacks for more comfort, no pushing them down in all the time. And three-quarter length sleeves. Shorts, slacks, sweaters —she kept looking and looking.

"Come on Sally," said Marge trying to hold the wiggling Danny still, "there will be another day—at least for you, to shop—and it may be that I can get back over, too. But, for now, I've got that drive back home—remember. But it has been fun—if I can get all the packages and Danny back to the car."

Accent Eyes In Fashion This Spring

The woman who receives lavish attention is the woman whose eyes are bewitchingly beautiful because she subtly enhances them with eye makeup, and lovely eyes are focal points for spring.

There are four steps, say Coty cosmetologists, that will dramatize a woman's eyes.

First, select a subtle eye shadow color that blends with the color of your gown. Stroke the shadow in a wide swath just above the lashes, then blend with fingertips, upward and outward — but not beyond the edge of the brow. For a more exotic effect, use iridescent eye shadow in conjunction with eye shadow chosen, and lightly blend in for a luminous effect.

The second step is to line the eyes with liquid liner. Hold your mirror below your face so that eyes are half-closed. Starting at the inner corner, draw a fine line along the base of the upper lashes. Finish with a short, fine, uptilted stroke at the corners to give them a longer look.

The third step — darken brows to beautifully accent the eyes. Apply pencil in feather strokes to the hairs of the brows, touching the skin only to fill in sparse places or to reshape or arch the brows. Then, gently blend in with the little finger or brush.

The fourth step, which gives a deep romantic luster to eyes, is to sweep over the lashes from base to tip using a wand-type mascara applicator. When the lashes appear thick and luxurious, tip the ends with an exotic iridescent shade.

THE HANDSOME COMBINATION of Dutch sisal and harness leather of this capacious handbag promises to make it a favorite with milady's spring ensembles. Its width is new-looking and complements the relaxed lines of the season's styles.

Miss Carol Almquist models a floor length bridal gown of white silk organizo and alencon lace, with short seeves and beautiful neckline. The very full skirt has a bustle effect in the back and a brief train. Her tripte pouf illusion is held in place by a miniature dome of crystal and pearls. Her 16 button gloves are of course, white. The bridal attire Miss Almquist is modeling is from Flower's Bridal Shop.

New Bags Good for Travel

For gals on the go this spring, new soft lightweight leather luggage is as fashion-minded as handbags and shoes. New shapes and sizes in pullman cases, overnight bags, weekend bags, train cases, fitted make-up cases and attache cases are crafted in soft lightweight leathers with a minimum of framework.

Spring pastels—gray, blue, tan, olive, coral and others—are increasingly popular in leather luggage for women. A matched set of three or four pieces can be keyed to the color continually favored in the wardrobe.

A modern woman's luggage is in airline weight leather, even if she travels by train, bus, or automobile. Luggage sides are soft to eliminate the weight of stiff backing materials, leather is extra durable and scuff resistant.

Hardware is streamlined in brass, steel or hard aluminum. Leather forms a complete surface on some bags while in others, neat seam and edge stitching in white or the same color as the bag is used.

Interiors tend to plush quilted linings and large mirrors set in satin draping in train cases and overnight bags. In the 20", 24" and 27" sizes, various soft lining materials that are kind to your clothing are used. In many of the new pastel bags, the linings are in colors that match the leather exteriors.

Great Divide Puts Culottes 'Way Out Front'

From out of the active sports scene and out of the high fashion couture salons where culottes first appeared in either functional or ultra-sophisticated styles, culottes are following many new directions for the new season.

The divided skirt—or culotte—takes on new importance as a suit "skirt." Often the new suit for spring offers both culottes and conventional skirt to complete the ensemble.

The scissors-pleated skirt shown in many junior styles looks very much like culottes—but without the "great divide."

Suits with culottes take such toppings as three-quarter length capes, hip - length jackets with cropped sleeves or cropped jackets. Overblouses, matched-to-lining blousettes and wool jersey tops are often complementary dividends for the spring culotte costume.

IMPORTANT COSTUME has a waist length jacket that covers a camisole blouse in a matching fabric. The pleated skirt is cut on a bias. Oval pearl buttons spice both jacket and skirt in this suit costume.

An adorable starlight blue ensemble from Junior House is modeled by Mrs. H. W. Harris for Chapman's. The drum line straight skirt is rayon of silk linen construction with stitched waist band. The blouse is 100 per cent cotton sateen beautifully embroidered in blue. It has three quarter sleeves and convertible collar and can be worn as an over blouse as well as tucked in. The jacket, waist length, is of the same material as the skirt piped with the blouse material. With it she wears white shoes, short white gloves and carries a white purse.

'Loomed-In' Stretch Fibers In New Fabrics

In the months to come, stretch fabrics take on brand-new significance and make their appearance in just about every fashion from at-home clothes to sportswear and a variety of accessories.

In the new era of the sixties, the lasting ease of the wondrous Helenca stretch fabrics is destined to play a part in every woman's wardrobe.

A comparatively new fiber, which originally started off in its fashion life in line-taming girdles and later in gloves — now gains new dimensions and new horizons as some of the nation's leading mills conceive new uses, handlings and designs for this stretch fiber.

For example, Einiger Mills, long famous for its cashmere and other fine suiting and coatings adds more fit, comfort and fashion with fabric stretchability. From off the looms comes beautiful Dupionis, spun rayon shantungs, spun rayon tweeds and satins, cotton ribs and even cotton denims with wonderful built in elasticity.

Imaginative Details Animate Active Wear Apparel for Sports

Boys' jackets' for spring will really be most notable. There's an introduction of fairly new styling in the nautical theme. All the basic classical jackets are taking on the 'yatchting' look with new dashing interest, sure to please every boy.

These up-dated classics feature both good looks and function. Fresh interest includes underarm insets for freer movement of arms; fancy rope tie, closings that replace the zipper; reversible jackets that turn about with gay new season fabric linings; new twoway collars and light outer fabrics with warm linings or no linings at all.

For the boys who are sailors at heart, and those who just want to look nautically nice, this is the season with their right fashions.

From Patterson's comes a darling little Easter frock on a darling little girl, Judy Bopp, shown with Mrs. Gladys McQuiddy, whose pretty Easter costume is, also, from Patterson's Dept. Store. Judy's dress is a dainty orchid pima cotton by Cinderella, with which she wears a perky little white hat, white gloves and carries a white purse to add to her spring elegance. Her switch patent pump is from her Father's shoe department at Patterson's. Mrs. McQuiddy's three button suit of nubby weave of textured silk and rayon, is of lilac shade, the leading color for spring. The jacket is taffeta lined and the round notched collar can be worn open or closed by using a favorite pin. For accesssories she has straw with matching ribbon flat bow and veil trim. She is carrying a black patent bag with dull kid trim on the enlongated style so popular this spring. Her shoes are from Bopp Bros., in black patent Galaxy pumps with clever half bow and buckle trim by Natural Poise. Shirred white gloves complete her costume. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Terrific Color, Bright Designs In Terry Cloth

Cotton terry cloth steps out from its humble shower room beginnings into the glamour field of fashions. The season the most fashionable gals will want to cover-up with new terry cloth creations. Outfits readymade for the beach crowd includes: jackets, beach dresses, dryoff pants and full skirts in luscious shades of grape, lemon, lime, apricot, vivid blue . . . and for the more demanding chic-dresser, there is bright red, or gaily striped combination as well as the brightest whites.

This year when you want the best in beachwear . . . a towel will do! Heres some simple hints for your own creations; a plain white towel with fringed ends will make a ponchostyle cover-up, just cut hole in the center of the towel for the head and stitch it down the sides leaving space enough for the arms, and with fringed ends merrily hanging round the thighs.

Easy Styles Define Boys' Newest Slacks

Slacks for spring offer boys 6 to 16 more new style, fabric and pattern interests. As in past seasons, slacks still are slim and trim. Frontier or western type pockets have been replaced with more pleasing quarter-top treatment.

Colors this season are lighter. Putty and bone tones, pewter (reflecting lighter green trend), blues, alone and in combinations with olive, which this season is still an important color. Solid colors, too, also checks (small and medium) plaids, mostly glen, madrases and batiks.

Fabrics, particularly for late spring into summer, offer seersucker, cotton gabardines, denims, twills, poplins and new variety of corduroy. Many new man-made synthetics and synthetic blends for long smart wear and easy care.

Shades of old and good-time living, look for knickers to appear again!

Carl Yessen, who is with the Wilson's Clothing, is wearing a Style-Mart suit, nationally famous for their fine fabrics, smart patterns and perfectly fitting qualities. His hat, one of the smartest spring styles, is a John B. Stetson, and with his Arrow snap tabber shirt, he wears a famous Botany tie.

Bowling Styles Scoring Points In Top Fashion

Baseball had better watch out, because there's a sport that's rapidly rising toward the number one spot of America's favorite one spot of America's favorite sports. It's bowling! About 26 million people in the United States flocked to the lanes last year, and new fans are made every day.

One of the biggest reasons for this increase is the change in the character of Bowling Centers. Not too many years ago these were called Bowling Alleys, and the change of name is not the only change.

Bowling centers today are becoming lavish entertainment headquarters, complete with cocktail lounges, bowling boutiques, restaurants, art galleries and baby care nurseries.

Bowling, being a sport the entire family can enjoy, has attracted many women, and when women take up a sport, they must have the proper (smart) clothing. Traditionally, bowling outfits take their style clue from the need for freedom of action. But, tradition has been broken!

What's new in fashions for bowling? Culottes get a big play with abstainers reasoning that they are awkward, but the abstainers are few. Tunics over tights or slim jims are also popular as they are both attractive and comfortable. For those who refuse to appear in slacks, skirts with matching tops take on a new look with gores that are definite, rather than having the look that they are trying to conceal themselves! One example is a skirt with multi-colored insets that show when the skirt flares out.

So, all in all, bowling fashions for 1961 look as though they will be very striking!

Newsy Knits Get Nod of Approval As Style Leader

In casual and sportswear collections cotton knit takes on an important role in stripes, polka dots and solids like daffodil, tangerine, turquoise, lilac. Bolder stripes combining white, yellow, orange and hot pink are a striking addition. The beach shift with front zipper teams with tank top, play suits, some of them in two-color combinations.

Top of knee, Capri, walker and short shorts lengths in pants, slim and full skirts, bloused and sashed or straight falling over-blouses complete group.

For town, smart wool knits remain favorites with busy women who enjoy their wrinkle-shedding characteristics.

New styling and fabulous new colors add additional appeal to the wonderful "on the go" qualities of a handsome wool knit or blended knit costume.

For dress-up wear other than sports, knits boast exciting scarf or cowl necklines, soft gathers at the waist, contrast stitching or show off in the faily new jacquard knit.

Youth Will Have A Well-Dressed Look With Hats

Heading into spring to give young men that finishing touch when dressing for a special occasion and the wearer a sense of pride — is a brand-new group of smart hats.

New this spring are fabric hats in madras or batik prints matching jackets of same fabric. Also seen are solid fabric hats with printed bands and brim welting. Smaller shapes with narrower brims are predominant.

Three popular new styles in brushed wool are the tapered front pork pie, the soft pinch front model, and the center crease. While these have a definite sporty air, they are equally appropriate for boy's dress-up occasions.

Mrs. Bill Dugan modeling for Sage's-Foster's, is wearing a pure silk dress in navy, fashioned with bodice waist, which has self piping at top and bottom, with two little bows in front. Self covered buttons are down the front for closing, and the skirt is slim. The waist has a lay back collar and short sleeves. Mrs. Dugan wears white gloves, and her shoes and purse are navy. This is a Herman Marcus dress.

Colorful, Bold Look Unfurled

Unfurled and rising high on new spring costumes are silk scarfs in the boldest and most colorful emblem patterns.

Designs are revamped for modern wear but reflect the revival of interest in King Arthur's court.

Knock-out colors are combined in bold, irregular stripe, dot or flowerlike heraldics.

Collarless jackets, and dresses emphasize the need for a scarf accent. Cowl circlets, boy scout ties, triangles, and sashes are touches for a bare neckline.

High on the list is a melange of colors boldly brushed on for spring. Lime, royal blue, powder blue and teal are combined for a real color splash.

Dots and dots in colored beads on white ground are fashioned on silk scarfs. Polka dots, a spring favorite, are given lift by irregular shape and placement and come in the traditional small dots to larger coin sizes.

So show your colors smartly with exciting scarf accents.

Newest Handbags Are Big, But Organized

Whether traveling to town or cross-country, the newest handbags are oversize and organized. The bigger they are, the more important.

Coupled with emphasis on size and shape is an increased interest in materials. Fabrics are different and expensive looking and the leathers, richly mellow.

The horizontal line appears in sleek and trim shapings with room for everything. These are usually well "handled" with double or fairly-wide straps for easy carrying.

Richly pointed tapestries and other novelty patterns are used over and over again in spring handbags and however elegant, their interiors are roomy and often exceptional capacious.

New Looks Favoring Linens for Spring

Spring collections point up a fabulous group of new linens, and adds the excitement of tri-color combinations, with hand painted detailing, in ombred tones or tops them with cashmere sweaters.

Whether in pure linen or silk linen, the brighter the color the better. New combinations and strong contrasts startling enough to spark an artist's palette appear as hot pinks combine with vivid oranges or turquoise combines with a brilliant purple.

For the less daring, black is coordinated subtly with beige tones and with browns.

Not So In Sedalia

Dark Tone Checks Is Style For Men's Suits This Year

Checks of dark tones woven into the worsted fabric is the new in material for men's suits this spring and although the continental that is widely written up in men's styles in fashion magazines and papers, does not predominate in the Mid-West there is still a continental influence in the new suits arriving daily in Sedalia stores.

This is particularly evident in the hacking or slanting pockets of the coats copied from the British riding habits. The tailoring is slimmer, too, with the knees and cuffs narrower.

For the young man who must have a new suit for graduation, confirmation or Easter, is the dark tone suiting, with charcoal gray flannel at the top of the list. These very handsome suits have brass buttons and reversible vests that match the suit material of the coat lining of gold print or perhaps other colors. The trousers are plain front with no pleats.

New, too, are the all weather coats which are shorter and have unusual pocket treatment with two large pockets and a small pocket above one of the large ones in front. These coats are light weight and with tones of oyster or putty leading. They are designed with ragland sleeves and are water repellent. To go with these coats, too, and which are very popular with the young men who have only shortly started wearing hats, are the new water repellent types of jaunty style that match the coats or come in plaids. The coats are lined with bright plaids, as are the jackets, which are of the same material as the coat and also are made with ragland sleeves.

The trousers for spring and summer are dacron and worsted and are popular because they are washable as well as dry cleanable. Also, they are light weight.

In demand this year are the short sleeved sweaters of orlon or banlon and even cottons. These attractive knit shirts require little care and are not only worn on the golf course or for other sports, but are being worn anywhere. The leading colors, although they come in a number of plain colors as well as stripes, are green, gold and toast.

The most popular shirt is the white shirt. The collars are shorter and cuffs are convertible, either button or worn as French cuffs. Broadcloth is the most popular fabric with oxford cloth with basket weave texture. These are chosen always in one of two colors, white or very light blue.

The ties are narrow and in subdued tones in regimental stripes and under the knot design. The latter has one or two very small designs on a plain dark background. The design may be at the side or in the center.

Tying a tie comes easy for some men and they like to, but, for others who can never seem to get it tied just right or always find themselves already late for work, there is a priceless product on the market which gives a perfectly tied tie and certainly saves time, for all a man needs to do is grab his tie as he rushes out the door and slip the two little plastic prongs on either side into his buttoned collar. That does it, he appears at the office with the carefully tied tie of the well-groomed man.

The tie clasps for men are smaller, and the most popular jewelry this season is in black and gold.

And so, for the moswt fastidious, the most conservative or the most fashion minded men of the Sedalia area the local stores are filled with clothes for the best dressed men for all occasions.

British Men Revolt Against Own 'Old Look'

While Americans look to the British accented styles in men's wear, Britons (men, that is) stage a fashion revolt. This year will be remembered as the year the British male finally shook off the last vestiges of war-time dress styles.

All categories of male wear will be highlighted with more colorful and light weighted clothes. Some of the "revolution" details he's gladly dropping are belted rain and topcoats, heavily padded shoulders, ample seat pants and dark color suits for lighter, brighter colored ones. He's trading those "hangovers" for knee length "shorty" rain and topcoats, cuffless tapered pants, brightly colored vests and innovations in formal dress wear to give the traditional British look a distinctive American accent.

Sophisticated Demure Gowns Awaiting Bride

Spring brides have so many beautiful fabrics and silhouettes to choose from in wedding gowns that this season should be blooming with the prettiest brides ever to walk down the aisle. Among the seasons most exquisite creations are demure bouffant gowns of embroidered Swiss organdy, dividing into panels over a cotton organdy skirt. Sleeves are tiny and the neckline is scooped.

Outstandingly elegant gowns from spring collections introduce a Parisian silhouette . . . its silk taffeta sheath is elaborately embroidered with Alencon lace motifs and is gracefully filled out with a sweeping back skirt.

These lovely gowns are representative of distinctively different moods spring brides are wearing — a sweet, demure look or the look of sophistication.

Stretch News

New elastic fabrics in foundations spell many benefits in wear and comfort for women this Spring. There are now girdles that feature permanent shaping, in that they cannot bag, sag or stretch. Girdles are also made in lighter, softer, finer elastic yarns that give subtle control, and firm the figure to show off spring fashions to best advantage.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT is this tone-on-tone check suit in a breeze-weight woolen. Double-breasted — the easy box jacket tops an eased-in-line slim skirt. A matching calf sash is at the waistline. The new fedora-shape hat in textured straw is banded in grosgrain.

Shirley Doermeyer models clothes to work in the garden or for recreation of any kind from Jiedel's Vogue Shop. Coming under the name Tops-'n-Shorts - 'n - Separates she wears the lilac and white blouse with duck white shorts of 100 per cent cotton with lilac stitching, on which is a large pocket with a girl in a green hat, a dress like the blouse and a watering can watering her flowers. The skirt she is carrying is of the same material as the shorts has a pocket like the one on the shorts. The shorts are Jamaica length. The outfit is cool and needs little or no ironing.

Novelty Prints Get Fancy New Handling

Batiks — show up everywhere . . . . in shirts, shorts, sports coats and otherwise. There are native varieties — domestic cottons with easy-to-identify prints and easy care synthetic blends with zany patterning. Expect a new kind of Madras, that combines the look of this fabric with batik. Results are plaid with batik type discharge printing. There are circle or diamond shaped allovers, vertical and horizontal stripes formed by abstract motifs and light and dark grounds, with dark preferrably showing up in sport coats. Most important of all . . . they all look new and add a note of bold spirit to sportswear for spring 1961.

Undercover Silks

Women who love the luxurious feel of silk against their skin, will be delighted with the many ways in which these elegant fabrics are being used in foundations this Spring. Bras, girdles and corselets are featuring it in many guises, ranging from silk-covered elastics to lush silk crepe de chine.

Mrs. John Cook is wearing a gray pin stripe wool flannel by Arthur Jay from Lockett's Ladies Shop. The new short boxy jacket has three quarter sleeves and a removable white linen collar. The skirt is pencil slim. With this she wears a white linen blouse. The jacket has two large pearl buttons in front and two small pearl buttons on each sleeve. It also, has two sham pockets. She is wearing short white gloves and white beads.

Choose Your Jacket Dresses to Fit Well

With the growing importance of jacket dresses on the fashion scene, the shopper should remember that the ensemble is a surefire hit in a woman's wardrobe only when the total of the parts of the costume look and fit well.

Make sure the jacket is as flattering as the dress itself — and vice versa. If the costume is in two colors, make sure that each of the hues is complementary to the whole, and to you.

Rain "Dears"

Spring showers are fun when you're wearing a smart new raincoat that takes to water like a duck! Many of the new spring styles are also designed for fair-weather wear, thereby doing double duty.

Specially treated cotton tapestries are popular in three-quarter length styles, while the traditional yellow "slicker" in rubberized fabric is feauring cape-sleeves for a new look. The trench coat, with its air of foreign intrigue, is now a classic in specially tr eated combed cotton poplin.

Mrs. Virgil Corson, models for Mode O'Day an attractive and serviceable navy and white polka dot shirtwaist dress of cotton and cupioni, with wide belt of the material. The button sleeves are just above the elbow in length, the skirt is full and pleated in the back. With it she is wearing white shoes, white gloves and white earrings.

The range of pinks is so varied, so diversified in tint and intensity that whether you're the palest blonde, the fieriest redhead or darkest brunette — there's the just right for you fashion pink in your future.

Make Nautical Togs 'Just For Sailors'

A walking and sailing nautical alphabet is one of the exciting innovations of the sports fashion world.

America's estimated 40-million boating enthusiasts can now purchase light, weather-proof seagoing jackets in any letter of the sailor's alphabet from a new nautical group introduced by the Mighty Mac Division of the Cape Ann Manufacturing Company. Ann Manufacturing Company.

Now 26 jackets based on the 26 letters of the International Code Flags, in every color under the sailing sun, duplicate the pattern of codes in the International sailing lexicon.

Because boating is a family sport, Mighty Mac offers these jackets in sizes for every member of the family.

Color Line Tamers

A wider-than-ever range of colors in foundations are contributing to the pretty look of Spring and suiting, the many moods of feminine wearers. This year will see, in the privacy of the boudoir, all these beautiful colors: turquoise, peach, aquamarine, lavender, violet, hot pink, pale pink, yellow, deep and vibrant blue, flaming red, champagne, beige, and of course, the classic white, and black.

A TAILORED TOQUE with a geometric touch expressed in alternate rows of bright black and white ric-rac straw is further accented by a wide grosgrain band and flat bow.

BOLD COLOR AFOOT and at the hem invite beguiling blends of color in hosiery. Here sheer demi-toe seamless stockings in a vivid tropic tint dramatize the shocking pink-with-white openback pumps, and give emphasis to the pink chiffon coquetry of the full skirt.

Costumes Important For Spring

The expression — "a costume season" can be sweet music to the ears of fashion conscious women. So, it's good news today —as costumes and ensembles step out with real swing for the new season.

Worth talking about are the two and-three part fashions — usually starting with a handsomely-shaped sheath that can "go it alone" anywhere and everywhere in smart style.

Add to this a bright coat dramatized by a matched-to-the-dress lining, a demi-fit jacket, a bolero or a sweater and the dress be comes doubly important in any setting.

Smart basic dresses, interesting and exciting by themselves are often enhanced this season by capes, and jackets with a cape-effect. At smart late-day and evening gatherings these ensembles are destined to make a grand entrance.

Two-piece ensembles of overblouse and skirt are often topped with casual cardigan jackets, lined and unlined. Many of these take printed tops that coordinate with the solid colors of jacket and skirt.

For dramatic date time settings, scooped neckline sheaths show off when barely-there jackets, capelets or brief boleros are removed.

Such double life ensembles as the dress with 7/8's coat, or a fitted tunic jacket are ideal for glamour settings too.

Dress and sweater duos—from the most simply stated classic for the office, for the vacation trip or Sunday excursion—look to their more dressy and sophisticated sisters in bejeweled cashmeres over silks, silk linens and other simple but elegant fabrics.

The ensembles are exceptionally exciting this year because this fashion group provides endless opportunity for color mating, mixing, coordinating or color batting!

Lovely little Brenda Litwin, left, models her new Easter outfit, along with her mother, Mrs. Martin L. Litwin. Both are modeling for Litwin's of course. Brenda's dress is of white Enka nylon enhanced with tiny flowers in pastel shades. It has a sash of wide blue satin ribbon that ties in a bow in the back. Her white shoes have bows with rhinestone trim and she wears white stretch gloves. Mrs. Litwin is wearing a dress of gold color with soft pleated skirt, styled with fitted scoop neck top, in all cotton. There is rhinestone trim on the wide belt. Her hat, which is completely covered with flowers, is white and she wears white gloves. Her purse is pearlized white, making a very attractive costume.

From Sage's-Foster's, a Quality Hill original of 100 per cent rayon crease resistant with dacron polyester is being modeled by Mrs. Bill Dugan. The blouse on top, with very narrow belt at the waistline, is in tones of black, cinnamon and beige with a beige silk crepe scarf at the neckline. The sleeves are three-quarter length and the very slimskirt of cinnamon shade has a pleat in the back.

Men's Wear United In One World

The "International Look" is the newest style entry for spring 1961 and gives a universal look to the men's fashion scene. This new trend incorporates ideas from the wide, wide world into one basic look and gives the man away from home that "at home look" wherever he may roam.

This silhouette starts with a well defined waistline, a generous chest expression and an "honest" representation of the man's shoulder with out being square or unduly sloped. The jacket front is well rounded and has a shaped waist, both front and back to enhance the masculine look with soft body lines.

Lapels are decidedly wider than any shown during the past seasons. Sleeves are well tapered and in keeping with the shorter lengths of most jackets. Trousers, are single pleated with regular side pockets, tapered but not narrow-legged. Two or three button single breasted coat carries the button at the natural waistline. The "International" comes with a matching vest or without, depending on the individual's taste.

In line with the ensemble look for Spring, two classic outfits are offered in two new collections . . . a silk surah print dress, topped by a slim wool coat, lined to match its dress . . . and a three-piece silk costume, jacket and skirt in solid color with print overblouse. Both are firm foundations on which to build a spring wardrobe.

Foreign Styles Enter American Raincoat Realm

To satisfy the ever growing demand of American men for raincoats, more manufacturers are turning to foreign countries for design ideas as well as new sources of supply.

As a result, there is a greater variety in design. American producers also are offering new models in colored and patterned fabrics, giving these utility garments new importance.

Raincoats probably will gain favor again this spring at the expense of topcoats. One reason being that the rainwear weighs less than other coats. The range of colors, fabrics, and styling is such that many of the new raincoats can double as dressy garments in any weather. The repellent coats include muted plaids and India madras effects.

Science boosts the appeal of today's rainwear to make it extra special for a man's busy life. New finishes such as "Scotchgard" repel water, oil and a wide variety of stains from fabrics.

Wash and wear qualities, topcoat styling, removable linings and more color are all rainwear dividends this season.

In the Swim

California's swim suit story is one of "three bares"—it's told in two-piece suits with bare midriffs, in deep plunging V's front and back, and in the extra-leggy look of abbreviated maillots.

Fabrics are colorful and extremely lightweight, florals are in bloom, stripes are bold and a blaze of hue; very-new stretch fabrics with fabulous control and minimum weight, frothy lastex and knits; strapless, camisole and scooped necklines are all highlights in the swimsuit collections.

Very Californian, too, are companion jackets and skirts for swim suits, especially for the bikini crowd.

A New Look Animates Men's Shorts, Pants

Walk shorts trot into the masculine spring and summer scene with several new running mates. There's a pretty fancy approach to patterns with a coordination that is tops. Bermuda shorts, for example, in traditional and updated Continental models, vie with slightly shorter Jamaica and play-short lengths. Three quarter deck pants go more conservative with the addition of belt loops and simplified front pockets and boxer elastic backs. An even longer length in pants — (to the ankle) is making a noticed entrance.

Patterns — anything goes. Big batiks and native prints, bright, light and larger madras plaids, British-look glen plaids and district checks, Bedford cords and twills, solid cottons and cotton blends as well as denim and duck coordinate with the exciting styles in shirts, sportwear and swimwear.

First Spring

pure silk or dacron."

"There is always a butterfly of some kind on the pure silk tag, symbolic of Japan. But the silks in these dresses are not from Japan, they are manufactured right here in the United States."

"No matter what the materials are," someone replied, putting on a sheath dress of Irish linen, "they are pretty." Linen, silks, cottons, dacron, whether they are prints, plains, checks or stripes—all are in fashion this year. And most of them are lined to hold their shape.

"Look at this dress with the big collar—collars are good this year, too," one of the sales women remarked.

"I love these mix and match outfits," said the young girl. "Just look at those colors—look at that sunburst shade."

"I think I want this short white coat with the navy trim," said the customer.

"The short coat is popular this year," one of the sales women said as she helped the customer slip off the white jacket with navy trim."

"So are the three - quarter lengths and the long coats, in just every color," someone else pointed out.

"Try this on," someone said to the customer, as they took a lilac shade jersey coat with knit sleeves and collar off the hanger and held it for her to slip into.

The customer looked surprised. It was so light that it felt like she had no coat on at all. "That is the cellular foam backing and the jersey is cemented to the foam," someone explained. "It is so light in weight, but it is warm. It really keeps out the wind and cold."

More boxes — gloves, purses, jewelry. The gloves range from the short to the 16-button, and are in all the gorgeous shades as well as white and blonde and black. The purses are of many fabrics including straws and colors to match gloves, shoes, and the bright jewelry. The beads this year may be from two strands to five or six, with matching earrings and other pieces. There are flowers, too, and cherries, to give a touch of color to a coat or a blouse.

"And here is the last purse, in the last box — beaded, and reversible, with colorful beads, on one side, white beads on the other."

"The last box—" and what is the expressman bringing, more spring magic, and perhaps beautiful summer things in lighter colors—for in Missouri one season one day and something else the next — there is a need for clothes of every type and color, for every occasion which can be found in Sedalia stores.

"Don't forget the men are watching," said one of the sales girls. "Wives are smart if they see that their husbands are watching what they wear as well as what the other women are wearing," as she opened up another box that just came in.

Lightweight Fashions

Male Footwear Steps Out In Neatly Defined Styles

Men's clothing for Spring has inspired an abundance of new casual footwear in light airy leathers and bright spring colors.

Lightness of weight and appearance characterize the casual and dress shoe types. Light porous leather soles are preferred, even in playshoes. The uppers are made of new spring-weight leathers for that "walking in the clouds" feeling.

New casual shoes are dubbed "carefree" by shoe designers because they're made for carefree living and because the leathers, such as washable white and scuff-resistant smooth and grained leathers, are easy to care for.

White, in a distinctive pebble grain, is used on casual tie styles and slip-ons — the latter sometimes decorated with a golf-shoe kiltie on the tongue. White is also combined with brown or black for both casual and dress shoes to complement light slacks and sport coats.

Brown leather colors are new this spring in hawthorn—a darkish brown shade usually in grain leather; dark oak — a blackened brown with a subtle bronze undertone; maverick—a medium brown with a slight greenish undertone; gaucho—a cool tan tobacco tone, especially popular combined with white and American burgundy—a deep cordovan color that goes with almost any color suit or slacks. Burnished olive and ivy—both with a hint of green—join loden green leather shoes to make up a new, smart color family.

Polished, waxy-finish fine grain and shrunken-grain leathers are seen on casual slip-ons. These have moc toes with raised stitching on the vamp or traveling on back to heel. Some have straps across the tongue, either loose or fastened down with stitching, brass rings or fancy cut leather loops. Leather linings offer "backing" to shoes and comfort to feet.

Town slip-ons are seen with plain toes or in moc toe styles in which the stitching forms a flat reverse seam-played down effect that goes well with the restrained styles in business and casual apparel. A whole new type of slip-on is the wing-tip, which offers the convenience of the slip-on but looks like the business man's elegant wing blucher.

Dress shoe honors are divided between moc-fronts and wing-tips, and in both styles the emphasis is on lightness. Three or four eyelet styles are favored but even the traditional six-eyelet shoes are lightened by use of trimmer leather soles and have fewer perforations.

A wealth of gores — hidden or open elastic bands that improve the fit of slip-ons — has spilled over from casual to dress styles. Collegians and young executives alike are seen in handsome, high-rising slip-ons with side gores or "boxer" tops.

Fashions Have Neat Deceit For Waiting Ladies

Flattering standaway collars are employed as subtle diversionary tactics in two attractive new maternity styles for Spring. A dress fashioned of wild silk features a bolero back for further interest, is elegant either before or after dark. A two-piece dress in satin-finished rayon ottomon, printed all-over with dainty apple blossoms, forms a beautiful costume for evening wear.

Tunic and elongated bubble lines in unusual fabrics are also seen in new maternity fashions for Spring. Lacy ribbon knits, lace-over-taffetas, like-linen cottons, plus silks form the basis for an exciting new collection.

High voltage colors, ranging from variegated stripes to yellow, brighten the waiting period. . . many designs are gaily punctuated with dots of aspirin to oversized-coin dimensions, for new pattern interest.

FOR NOW, EASTER AND LATER —this sheer, airy woolen sheath is smart and plays it cool in any weather. Eased waistline and wide open neckline are newsy, and noteworthy for spring. Jeweled buttons provide rich accents. A rose-topped velvet pillbox adds a gay punctuation point to the costume.

ULTRA FEMININE yet very much at ease for any occasion, culottes come to the fore for spring-into-summer wear. Here culottes in wool flannel smartly adds a smart shirt-styled overblouse as its team mate.

SUNSHINE IN THE RAIN— There's a sunny outlook ahead regardless of the weather in this slim-lined raincoat. The luster, shimmer and glowing color of fine silk is captured in Eastman's Estron "55" acetate that sheds wrinkles in any weather. Push-up sleeves, self-covered buttons and roomy, slash pockets are style notes.

Mrs. Norman Pitcairn wears a broken plaid of black and white silk from Flower's. The flaring skirt is emphasized by braid binding and the waist, with short sleeves, has a jewel neckline. Her accessories are of black patent, her long gloves are white and she carries a spring hat of textured straw with deep crown.

(Democrat-Capital photo)

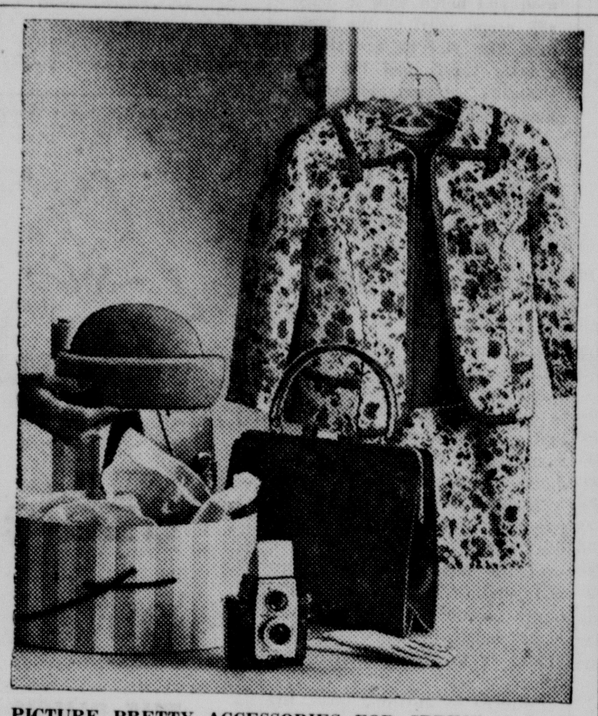

Mrs. Carl Goist models for Connor-Wagoner a one-piece linen dress of banana color, styled by Rothchild's in California. This coat style dress is lined back with striped taffeta of banana, lime and orchid shades which shows as she walks. A scarf is of the same striped taffeta material. With this Mrs. Goist wears lime colored gloves by Dawnelle and carries a lime colored purse and matching straw hat.

Muumus are here to stay, because of their wonderful versatility and comfortableness! They serve as a duster, housedress or patio lounger, all-in-one. Spring versions of the muumuu are again brilliant with exotic Hawaiian flower prints and often are carbon-copied in a smaller size for daughter.

THE CIRCULAR COAT stresses the new width in spring coats. Important features are the cardigan neckline, giant, low-placed pockets and cropped sleeves. A pebbly, creamy wool gives new dimensions of luxury to this new, new coat, says the Wool Bureau.

PICTURE PRETTY ACCESSORIES FOR SPRING—A handsome linen suit in a lovely floral print takes a partner in matched-in-color over-blouse and invites the smartest accessories on the spring scene. Add a "salad bowl" breton hat with a deep round crown and high rolled up brim is very new, as are the capacious soft-grain handbag in color matched leather and slip-on shorties in washable white nylon. And on hand to capture the pretty fashion picture forever in snapshots or in slides — is the easy-to-use, Brownie Reflex "20" camera in a fashion_right case of black with metal trim.

STACKED SMARTLY FOR SPRING is the heel interest on these new spectator pumps. This smooth leather daytime shoe is in a creamy bone color with perforations and delicate leather bow decorating the vamp. The leather sole is outlined in briarwood to match the leather heel.

Mrs. Robert Behen, modeling for Jiedel Vogue, is attractive in a double breasted full length boy style coat of laminated all wool jersey, curon knit and water repellent in black. With it she is wearing black patent Connie Spectator pumps, with matching black patent bag. Her white gloves are by Keyrer.

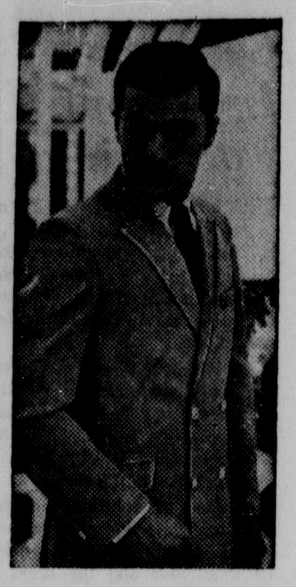

Mrs. H. O. Wilbur in a hyacinth sheer wool with basic simplicity is modeling for C. W. Flower. It is designed with high scoop neckline, bracelet sleeves. With it she wears a large flowered hat in hyacinth and long gloves and shoes in blonde shade.

FOR GALS ON THE GO—A smart oyster beige man-styled cotton and Dacron rain coat that's impervious to both oil and water stains. Thanks to its new "Scotchgard" stain repeller treatment, this coat eliminates further waterproofing after cleaning, and will look light and bright for a long, long time.

"Contemporary"?

"Contemporary" is a period in furniture fashions just as "Early American" is. Perhaps it would be best to say contemporary is a period without a period at the end of it yet. It represents new thinking and new ideas developing today, as opposed to new interpretations of old designs.

THE BLAZER SUIT in fine Cone "Washcord" Corduroy is a washable, wearable ensemble that's debonair and colorful. It promises longer wear with the "plus" of "Scotchgard" to resist all types of stains.

In Love With Silk

Again, California continues its love affair with silks—for day, for date, for dancing . . . they're also perfectly packable for travel anywhere and by whatever mode.

California's romance with silk bestows great affection for the hand-loomed types, the silk linens and broadcloths; the silk shantungs and crepes and especially—silk chiffons.

The California label in new season clothes expresses an exciting awareness of easy elegance, smart tailoring and best of all—a thrilling rendering of affirmative colors.

So for a bright fashion season—"go West, milady" — West, of course, to California—for fashion excitement!

Half Sleeved Dress Shirts Cool Favorites

Dress shirts with an eye to the new season have two things in view; comfort and good looks. The fancy half sleeve shirt which continues to gain popularity now has added top interest — the British grip-tab collar.

Besides the British look collar; pink - tab length (pointed and rounded) — tabless tabs and round collars — shorter button downs — plus tab length collar with moderate spread will set the spring - into - summer dress shirt collar trend.

On the cuff, it's a totally different story as cuffs will be fancier than ever with angled tabs, slit plackets, buttoned versions and others.

As for fabrics, all are keyed in spring - into - summer weights. Colors are British influenced in crisp stripings, checks (medium and batiste weights); ivory, muted gold, pewter, denim blue, pink, geometric white on whites, sleek satiny accents on lenos and stripes. All look neater and have an opaque quality

Plumage Touch Adds Color to Men's Hats

Spring '61 accents in male plumage points up acceptance of feathers and ornaments to spark new hats. New adventures in trimming takes the conventional bow, unchanged for a century and replaces it on casual hats with swirls of rope or braided bands, with pin or feather as a finishing touch.

Rings and belts buckles are used to join the band ends. More feather bands are shown. And the trims are not confined just to casual hats. Plumage of ramie and raffia now dress up the straws. Sport caps have symbolic embroidered ornaments, too!

Every male who desires just a flash of color this spring will get the color flash with lots of dash.

New Look in '61 Is One of Subtle Ease

Watch for a profound change in women's clothing fashions as the "New Look" is subtle enough to be accepted without any hesitation.

The sum of lithe slenderness, mobile cut, easy shaping, elongated bodice, bared throat, bared arms, and a "small" but decorative head with individualized hair styling and forward hats — will comprise the "No. 1 Silhouette" in spring fashions.

Reviving Civil War Hats for Centennial

In recognition of, and to coincide with ~~the~~ Civil War Centennial, the National Cap and Cloth Hat Institute reports a revival in interest in Civil War type headgear — Confederate gray rebel caps and Union blue Yankee caps with authentic insignias will be seen ahead in young masculine circles.

A hard drying exterior type enamel is the kind of paint that should be used for both metal and wood outdoor furniture. Never use ordinary house paint (some hard drying trim paints are suitable) since house paints are comparatively soft and may chalk or rub off on clothes.

FEATHERWEIGHT woolens in airy linen-weaves are seen smartly on the spring scene. A 4-ounce beige woolen shapes this eased-waistline sleeveless sheath; its pert bellboy jacket is a black 6-ounce wool piped in beige. For complements ahead—a bubble-top toque in a textured straw.

Mrs. Frank Wagner is wearing a two piece lime colored suit by Pendleton as she models for Connor-Wagoner. The suit, which is 100 per cent wool, has straight skirt and box jacket fastened down the front with bone buttons. The sleeves are bracelet length. Mrs. Wagner's short gloves are of lime shade and she carries a black faille purse by Lewis.

Gay Belts Encircle Waists With Grace

Smart leather belts circle most tailored waists this spring with neat, colorful "clasps." Although fewer contour belts are in evidence than last year, widths vary all the way from spaghetti hoops of suede leather to five to six-inch bands of supple, smooth and slightly grained leathers.

Narrower belts are being worn with fuller skirted dress in daytime and late-day ensembles.

In mood and color, new belts are matched to handbags and shoes. Chalked colors and pale pastels at the waist carry through the softer leather look of accessories from hand to toe.

Shorter Skirts Call for Well Groomed Legs

These days a gal hasn't a leg to stand on, from a fashion-plate standpoint, unless her gams are scrupulously groomed! Sheer hosiery, dainty shoe styles and shorter skirts focus attention on legs.

So, here are some quick - tips from the Lady Remington Beauty Institute: Once a week give yourself a pedicure — from toes to knee-cap. Use all the trimmings: fragrant bath oil, pumice stone, nail polish and skin cream. And, be sure to defuzz legs. Use an electric shaver, of your own, to eliminate nicks and scrapes that can mar the good looks of marble-smooth legs.

Take advantage, too, of new spring hosiery shades to flatter your limbs. Rosy shades, warm beiges and tan tones will round out the shape of a thin leg visually. Darker tones will tend to minimize plumper limbs.

Lastly, keep shoes in ship-shape condition to complete that bandbox appearance — from foot to head.

IN FAIR OR FOUL WEATHER, a man looks good, feels comfortable in a handsome raincoat of water-repellent iridescent cotton gabardine that can be dry cleaned or washed. This good-looker has a plaid lining, raglan sleeves, fly front and roomy pockets.

Mrs. Charles Thompson, modeling for Chapman's, is wearing a Carlye wrapped bodice silk linen dress in lime shade, with a matching pebbly textured cotton knit insert to provide the neckline. The elbow length sleeves are bell shape. With this lovely dress Mrs. Thompson wears long black gloves and black shoes and carries a black purse.

A La India

A strong Eastern influence has invaded spring collections, resulting in some unusual and exotic fashions. The authentic sari styling of India has been adapted to a dinner - cocktail sheath with modified scoop neckline and gold-banded short sleeves. This striking version of the sari can be worn with or without a separate floor-length skirt which has been split at the sides.

Styles to Flatter Everyone in Spring

There's so much that's new and different in the news for spring, that Fashion seems to offer at least sixty-one variations on style and color themes for Sixty-one.

There is literally something for everyone this season — with every figure type considered in the new designs and silhouettes.

The tall figure can choose dramatic clothes that look important and give elagance to height.

The petite figure can have her pick of flattery as both full-blown and sheathed silhouettes help her gain stature.

And there's a provacative lighthearted excitement in the diversity of styels for the junior sized miss or missus.

NEW AND UNUSUAL is the word for this Continental coat of "Scotchgard" treated Cone Doeskin that ends just above the knee. A really - rugged coat, it has leather buttons, buckled sleeve tabs and a wide self belt in the back—and washable, wearable and water repellent for longer wear.

TRAVEL COMPANION — The perfect traveler for any trip is this casual coat dress with young, slim lines. An easy-on button front and short sleeves add to its plus features. In Eastman's Estron acetate and rayon, it has an amazing resistance to wrinkles.

'Glamourous' Bras

Spring finds bras are dressing up for bared evening fashions and adding to that party-glamour feeling with finely wrought laces and delicate embroideries. The many styles designed for decollete fashions are not only ingeniously constructed to back up each late-day style, but are also fashioned with a view to enhancing that "pretty" feeling that women love.

No Runs—A Hit

Women who seek fashion in hosiery as well as comfort, will be happy to learn of a new sheer, seamless support nylon stocking now on store counters. They are guaranteed against runs for 30 days, regardless of cause. The stockings are knit of specially processed stretch nylon yarns, treated with an exclusive finishing process for higher snag resistance.

Atomic Benefit May Be Keeping Of Peace Itself

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Willard F. Libby, says one of the first great peaceful benefits of atomic energy may be peace itself.

"The military is getting so efficient that it may well force peace, for it is developing war into a matter of total annihiliation," Dr. Libby said during a lecture at the University of Utah.

He said the destructive power of nuclear weapons may force the nations of the world to reach peaceable agreements to prevent their own annihilation.

Dr. Libby is a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission and won the 1960 Nobel prize in chemistry. He is a professor at UCLA.

Peru Miracle Alters Small Fishing Town

By STANFORD BRADSHAW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Men who were almost beggars were seated on a throne of gold.

They were the fishermen who eked out a living on the shore of San Juan Bay in southern Peru while the dun-colored coastal plateau, a few miles away, covered high-quality iron ore.

In eight years the fishing village of Marcona has become a modern city of 8,000. Iron ore worth $125 million has been dug, hauled to the blue Pacific, and sold to the world.

The story of how it happened is in the files of the U. S. Export-Import Bank here.

Increasingly linked with private U. S. business during its 26-year history, the bank has become a major U. S. tool for meeting the "revolution of rising expectations." Its role in bringing prosperity to Marcona has its dpulicates in Brazil, Iran, Indonesia—around the world.

Here's what happened in Peru:

The existence of the iron ore deposits in the hills off San Juan Bay had been known for over 50 years. In 1943 the Peruvian government granted the Santa Corp.—a government entity for establishing a national steel industry—the concession for the Marcona Plateau.

In 1952 the Santa Corp. signed an exploration agreement with the Utah Construction & Mining Co. of San Francisco, Calif. Utah checked the reserves and the facilities needed to develop them.

It found proved reserves of at least 200 million tons, plus indications of much larger quantities of probable reserves.

With Peruvian agreement, the Marcona Mining Co. was established in January 1953, and a surplus naval landing craft loaded with supplies and equipment crunched up the beach at San Juan Bay.

In order to fill out the required initial capital of $10 million, Marcona hit the Ex-Im Bank for $2.5 million. Actually, it drew less than a million of this, and all of the drawings have been repaid.

A road was built up the escarpment. Huge scrapers were bought to dig the ore. Sixty-ton trucks were purchased to make the downhill haul. A crushing plant was built, and a conveyor and wharf for ship loading. Well-equipped houses were built for workers.

In the eight years between 1953 and 1960, the Ex-Im Bank files show, Marcona spent $35 million in the United States on plant and equipment.

In addition, $40 million was spent in Peru on taxes, royalties, wages, local supplies and services. And $30 million more went for operating supplies and expenses.

Twenty million tons of iron ore had been blasted from the hills, stripped away, hauled down the brake-burning road, and loaded into carriers for the United States, Europe and Japan.

In the process, the work force—97 per cent Peruvian and paid at the highest prevailing industry scale in Peru—has grown from about 600 to 1,600; the earnings from iron ore exports, nonexistent in 1952, provided 7 per cent of Peru's dollar exchange; and Marcona ore and money went into Peru's own Chimbote steel mill.

By the mid-1960s Marcona hopes to be shipping 10 million tons of 67 to 70 per cent iron content ore yearly. The San Nicolas Harbor will accommodate ships up to 100,000 ton capacity.

The net cost to the United States taxpayer, too, was nil. In fact, Ex-Im already has received $17,806 in interest on its investment, to be included in the annual dividends the bank pays the U.S. Treasury.

Fortnightly Club Hears Program By Mrs. Hensley

The Fortnightly Club MFWC, Sweet Springs, met in the home of Mrs. George Bray.

Mrs. E. B. Hensley, wife of Rev. E. B. Hensley of the Christian Church, gave an interesting talk on "The Lost Indians of Mesa Vedre." Mesa Verde is Spanish for "green table" where an advanced type of farming is involved.

Mrs. Hensley told the history of the area and its early cliff dwelling inhabitants, their apartment like dwellings, places of worship, tools, pottery, etc. She pointed out that after achieving a rather advanced type of civilization and prosperity for that era, catastrophe in the form of a 24-year drought struck them and they left their homes in the year of 1200 and walked down the canyon, never to return.

In the latter part of the nineteenth century, the westward movement reached Mesa Verde, and explorers and early settlers began to discover this early Indian settlement.

Some things were destroyed and moved away by relic hunters before the United States government took over and made it a National Park.

Where these Indians went is a matter of conjecture but the corners of the four states close to these cliff dwellings and the entire region is full of Indian ruins, many of which show the signs of Mesa Verde mingled with other Pueblo Indians in this region. It is believed they gradually lost their identity and that in the veins of the Pueblo Indians of the southwest, greatly thinned by the centuries, flows the blood of the ancient people of Mesa Verde.

Mrs. Hensley's talk was very interesting, as she has visited the park and seen many of the things of interest.

Rev. Neal Speaks

BPWC Marks 38th Birthday With Observance Thursday

The Rev. D. Warren Neal was the speaker at the 38th anniversary of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's Club held Thursday night at the Bothwell Hotel.

This is an annual affair to which representatives from other civic organizations and Business Women's Clubs from other communities are invited. Miss Helen Anderson, district director of District 4, and a large delegation from Boonville were present as was a group from Higginsville which was organized by the Sedalia Club under the presidency of Mrs. Frieda Nelson.

Civic club representatives introduced were: Sam Boyle, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Boyle; William Schien, president of Kiwanis, and Mrs. Schien; Miss Nellie White, president of the American Business Women's Association, and her sister, Miss Jessie White; Mrs. Frank Rouchka, president of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club, and Mrs. W. H. Harms, vice-president; Rev. Warren Neal representing Rotary and Al Domingue, representing Lions.

Rev. Neal chose for his subject: "Our Town—Our Future."

We struggle for survival, he said, we struggle or we die. Nations and cities, he said, must do more than grow in size, there must be quality to survive. What your town or your nation is, he pointed out, depends on the individual—every individual.

He told of a little town in which he was sent to a mission in the early days of his ministry. It resisted all progress, it didn't even have electricity and he tried to get REA but they wouldn't have it. The laws of growth in that community were resisted by the citizens.

Many communities have resisted spiritual growth, and the community starts dying. No one ever stands still, they go forward or backward. He told the story of the children of Israel and the man Moses, who was to lead them to the promised land.

And then, at last, the leader began to lose faith, and he questioned God. When leadership begins to waiver the community or the nation begins to die. God told him to tell the children of Israel to go on, and he opened a door as he always does when there is faith.

Our nation stands where they stood because it has been pressured. We are standing at a new era — we cannot stand on our laurels. The prayers of all the nation should be with the president and Congress to give them leadership and courage, he said. This can be the greatest decade in history, or the last decade. What we must do is recapture the desire to serve. We need to become a democracy again where every man and woman gives of themselves as citizens.

We must forget petty politics, littleness, selfishness, and each as an individual join to strengthen the nation and the town.

"What can I do as an individual?" is the question asked. I am only like a grain of sand or a pebble, but the Rev. Mr. Neal explained that the great dams that hold back the mighty waters are grains of sand and pebbles. Each person is more, because each has ideas.

The way to hold back a town is to find fault with it. Criticize what other people are doing, without contributing or serving in any way themselves. Until we accept responsibility to serve our fellowman we will crumble and we crumble from within, not from without. It is time we looked at ourselves. Too many are shiftless citizens.

At this point Neal stopped to commend Sam Boyle, the new president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Bill Schien, whose tireless efforts were largely responsible for the new school building about to be built. When men like these accept the responsibility of leadership things can be accomplished. But it takes individuals each with a will to serve and constructive ideas, to follow those leaders and contribute to the town or the nation.

What kind of a town will Sedalia be in the future? The kind of a town the citizens want it to be.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Marguerite Scott, president.

Miss Doris Stott very effectively told of the object of the club and explained the emblem.

The only charter member able to attend was Mrs. Frieda Nelson, who was presented a corsage. She served as president of the Sedalia Club in 1927, served as vice-president on the state board and attended the first international convention of the organization which was held in Vienna.

The other charter members are Mrs. Florence Middleton, Sedalia, and Miss Cecile Tillbery, Chicago.

Mrs. Jessie Goist, chairman of the membership committee in charge of the program, introduced the speaker.

She presented for the musical part of the program the ever-popular pair, John Vanderkamp and Al Domingue, who sang several numbers. They were accompanied by Miss Lillian Fox.

The new members during the past year: Louise Altwater, Edith DeMott, Mimi Kraus, Dorothy Owens, Wilma Pharris, Nyra Price, Junia Mae Smart, Ruth Thomas, Sue Keim and Gladys Mitchell were introduced. Each was given a certificate and a gift.

The group singing was led by Mrs. Ethel Pugh, music chairman, and the chaplain, Miss Erna Ann McClure, gave the invocation and led the club collect.

Yellow daffodils were attractively used in table decorations and at each place was a miniature box of Stover's candy.

TRIPLE THREAT — Irene Dalis, now in her fifth year with the Metropolitan Opera, can sing dramatic mezzo and soprano roles and occasionally assays the coloratura range. She has proved one of the most versatile prima donnas of this century.

Palm Prints May Be Used Also To Nab Moonshiners

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Palmprints as well as fingerprints will be used to catch Tennessee moonshiners.

The technique, so new in Tennessee it hasn't been used, was outlined in an interview Thursday by Herman O. Bomar, state supervisor of the federal alcohol and tobacco tax unit.

Bomar explained that palmprints are frequently found on moonshine containers where legible fingerprints are not. The palmprints are lifted, then compared with those of the person arrested.

If they match, Bomar said, "this is indisputable evidence that the man was at the scene of the crime."

Sedalia's Superettes are the . . . SUPERETTES TALK of the TOWN

How The Superettes Serve You!
Even in our modern world of today there is a place for friendly person to person service, as given by the Town Crier of days gone by.
As modern merchandizing methods have practically eliminated personal contact between the merchant and his customers, its refreshing and reassuring to know that the neighborhood institution, the small independent corner grocery, still exists in our town.
The superettes are the backbone and the foundation of many of the things that make our community more comfortable and colorful by supporting and sponsoring the many organizations and undertakings that are so important a part of our community.
Because they are in the business of furnishing food and household necessities in the widely scattered neighborhoods that make up our city, the Superettes find themselves in a unique position to serve people as no other business can. The neighborhood Superettes are a part of the business community but located in the neighborhoods where people live, thus their business judgment is often called upon by their customers for advice on the purchase of property, investments, choice of career, and many important facets of human life.
Won't you stop by and visit YOUR familiar neighborhood Superette soon?
